"What you are trying to understand is the meaning of (the) situation as a whole. The reason the position of the planets is important is simply this: if you realize the universe is an organism in the broadest sense of the term, a system of integrated activities, then anything that happens within that system of integrated activity has a place and function within that system. If you want to understand a particular point in time-space within that system, you have to see it in relation to the whole system. The wholeness of the system is constantly working in polyphonic harmony with the life of the individual which has become separated from the whole by becoming itself, a little whole, a little organism. Each time anything individualizes out from the whole, it remains part of the whole . . . The idea in astrology is to relate all the functional activity of a human being to ten basic symbols, or planets, each planet representing a definite quality of activity. Taken together, they represent a blueprint of a person as a whole."

— Dane Rudhyar, "Humanistic Astrology"

> "The basic principle that makes up astrology is...the heartfelt faith that the cosmos is divinely ordered and governed, and that everything which happens in the heavens and which is calculable stands, mysteriously, in close relation to the events on earth."
> — Dr. Gustav-Adolf Schoener, "Astrology: Between Religion and the Empirical"

WHY USE ASTROLOGY?

Hidden in our lives are mysterious forces, whether we are concerned with our daily routines or major life crises. Once called gods and goddesses, all we can say now is that these unknown presences are revealed by the patterns we observe. We can call them planets, unconscious energies, deities or just mysteries. Astrology is still - as it always has been - mainly concerned with revealing the rhythms or cycles of our collective and individual unfolding. This is what you and I experience as the journey of life with its ups and downs. Knowledge of our planetary cycles offers us the ability to see into what's going on beneath the outer surface and to navigate and make choices more wisely. We don't know why. The Cosmic Window™ is designed for that purpose.

The astrology used here is not about prediction or fatalism. Astrology is simply the study of meaningful correspondences between planetary movements and our lives. The rhythms of the planets reveal an order and pattern which can show us hidden patterns in our lives. Astrology is being used here because of its power as a tool which can reveal hidden information, based (irrational as it may seem) only upon the time and place of birth of the individual. It cannot predict the outcome of a situation - success or failure. You need not be a believer or follower of astrology to be open to what it can tell you.

Dear Katie Holmes,

Here is your COSMIC WINDOW™ Daily Appointment Calendar. With it you can quickly and easily see the astrological indications for you personally for any given day. Almost all of the information here is based upon your individual birth date, time, and location. Ideally this calendar will not take the place of your own decision-making but will give you more information to allow you to make better-informed choices. It is not suggesting that you are subject to planetary influences (though perhaps we are), only that there is a meaningful and useful relationship between planetary cycles and our daily lives.

You may know absolutely nothing about astrology. Even if you don't know what a "trine" is or what Jupiter represents, you are holding a calendar that can tell you about your personal astrological activity for a year, without any technical knowledge.

Your personal and useful information is easily available without your having to wade through arcane terms. If you want to learn more, this is a great place to begin. But if you just want the facts and interpretations so you can use them, without having to know how they work and where they come from, then here they are.

The COSMIC WINDOW™ was created for the purpose of helping you to be more aware of the rhythms and cycles of the Universe in order that you might live in greater cooperative attunement with them.

Enjoy your COSMIC WINDOW™. If you have any questions or suggestions, I'd like to hear from you.

How Astrology Works

A Brief Overview

So what is really going on here? We know it's somehow about the planets (and the Sun and Moon) and your birth. This short article offers a glimpse into the strange symbols and calculations that form the foundation for the interpretations you read here.

When you were born, astrology assumes there was some kind of meaningful relationship between the locations of the planets and the person you are (and perhaps have the potential to be). By drawing up a chart ("casting a horoscope") to show their placements in the zodiac signs (marked-off areas of space around our Earth), in the houses (areas of space around your place of birth), and angular relationships with each other ("aspects"), we have a map of sorts. This chart is our starting point, and is uniquely yours. Up to this point, the work has been logical, mathematical and objective.

Astrology becomes illogical and subjective when it attempts to interpret the meaning of this chart, to tell you about yourself because you have Mars in Cancer, Pluto in the Fourth House, or Venus square Saturn. This lengthy tradition is what infuriates the scientist and seems insulting to the astronomer, who sees no meaning in his or her calculations and heavenly bodies.

To understand the present or any particular time in your life, we move the planets from their starting positions at birth (natal) to the moment in question, and in the case of your Cosmic Window, interpret the angular relationships between their new position (transits) and their birth positions. This is colorfully portrayed in your calendar by using the planetary symbols (☉☽☿♀♂♃♄♅♆♇) and aspects (☐ △ ☍). Learning these few (16) glyphs can open up a much deeper level of understanding.

Once you know that ♂ means "Mars", you can then memorize what "Mars" represents, i.e., aggression, passion, desire, anger and initiative. Suddenly a little "phrase" like ♂☐☉ can mean a great deal!

When you look at your personal pages, the interpretative phrases each day or the paragraphs in the Major Activity section are a translation of those three little glyphs. And what they are showing you is this:

The first symbol refers to the planet in motion in the sky at that given moment and its position. This is called a "transiting planet." The last symbol is a planet (or house cusp if "AC" or "MC") in your natal chart. And the middle glyph is showing the number of degrees between the two (give or take a few degrees, called "orbs").

So if you see ♂☐☉, this would be saying "the Mars position in the sky at this time is roughly 90 degrees from where the Sun was when you were born." The great leap of faith (or at least of curiosity) comes in being willing to imagine that such a thing actually matters!

I believe if you take the time to observe and to consider, you will see that there is, in fact, some kind of connection between these astrological facts and what's going on in your life. You don't have to believe (as many do) that the planets are causing your life to be the way it is. But you can entertain the idea that there is SOMETHING going on. And even if we can't explain it or defend it to a scientist — and why do we need to? — you can still derive great benefit from seeing and experiencing the rhythms and patterns of your planetary cycles as they appear in the life you live.

YOUR PERSONAL SABIAN SYMBOLS

Katie Holmes

The Sabian symbols have been around for almost 100 years. Since they were popularized by Dane Rudhyar in An Astrological Mandala (1973) they have been appearing more often in astrological consultations and articles.

Visualized originally by a psychic at the request of astrologer Marc Edmund Jones, the 360 images were randomly assigned to each of the 360 degrees of the zodiac, thus giving each separate degree its own character. So 3 degrees of Taurus differs from 4 degrees of Taurus, for example, because they each carry their own symbol of their unique quality.

You will find one interesting application of Rudhyar's approach at the beginning of your Major Activity section in the back of your Cosmic Window. There a set of four symbols, forming a cross occupying every 90 degrees, paints an intuitive picture of your present life situation. Those symbols are based upon your moment of birth and the cross is formed by using the degree of your progressed Sun, which changes about one degree every year.

Here we are using the symbols to add depth to your birth chart. The Sabian symbol is given for the degree occupied by each of the major items in your own chart. The degrees are determined in this way: from 0 degrees Aries up to 1 degree of Aries is Aries 1; from 1 degree 1 minute of Aries up to 2 degrees of Aries is Aries 2; and so on.*

SUN 26 Sagittarius 50 Sagittarius 27

SUN: center of your personality, clearly being and expressing yourself, your integrity, sense of purpose and intention to be who you truly are 27 SAG: A sculptor at his work.

This shows an individual effort to project one's vision into substantial form.

MOON 17 Leo 12 Leo 18

MOON: your listening, receiving, feeling your feelings, caring for others, having needs, being vulnerable or needing help, the child in you

18 LEO: A chemist conducts an experiment for his students.

This might refer to the thrill of discovery available to those who have mastered the basics.

To get the most out of your Cosmic Window calendar, read this section once.

INTRODUCTION

Who knows what this year holds for you? You are looking at 12 months of your life - 52 weeks, 8,760 hours, 525,600 minutes, 31,536,000 seconds. How many breaths, how many beats of your heart will you live from the start to the end of these pages?

Of course, these markings on paper are not your actual life, not your hopes and fears, highs and lows, joys, trials, and realizations which you will experience during these 12 months. But these pages contain valuable information about the patterns likely to be woven throughout your days and nights. Whether you are already convinced of the value of astrology or just testing its validity, your Cosmic Window™ calendar can provide you with a way to see into the daily and longer-term events of your inner and outer life. And it's fun!

(How to use each kind of page can be found at the end of the book.)

The colors:

EASE as in REST (leisure, relaxation, calmness, security)
FREEDOM FROM RESTRAINT (abandon, naturalness, spontaneity)
FREEDOM FROM or easing of PAIN, or relief
READINESS: facility, cleverness, effortlessness, expertise, knack, poise, skillfulness, smoothness; efficiency
PROSPERITY: abundance, easy street, thriving, well-being

But could be idleness, inactivity, inertia, passivity.

STRESS as in the action or effect of force exerted within or upon a thing
CONSTRAINING force or influence: (pressure, strain, tension, pinch; burden, weight)
EMPHASIS, accentuation, importance
LABOR: toil, travail; adversity, difficulty; burden, care, worry
Can be discomfort, unrest; agony, pain
Or awkwardness, clumsiness, stiffness; inconvenience; exertion, effort.

Stress is built into life, and we experience a tidal rising and falling of stress in our day-to-day existence. Often it is felt as a quickening or vitalizing and we feel more alive. The pace quickens; we respond to challenge. More rarely, at its extreme it can be quite unbearable. Will it come from tense encounters with people in our environment, from unwelcome thoughts or feelings surfacing from our own minds, or physical illness or material loss?

Ease or harmony is also built into our lives. It is more than just the absence of stress. The Chinese - among others - believed that life was a mixture of harmony and chaos or stress. When you are living life as it is, or living the Tao, then you can experience harmony even in the midst of crisis. In harmony, life brings you a feeling of support, validation, or acceptance.

You may see red days, red moments, or even whole red months. These are not to be feared or to be seen as warnings of awful events. Occasionally they may coincide with difficult times. But there is stress in finding or marrying a mate, starting a new job, completing an education. So please, try not to react to red as something bad or unfortunate waiting to crush you. It is more like a "force exerted within or upon you."

In the same light, blue days, moments or months will not necessarily bring you everything you wish for. At these times there is more of a sense of life working for you, or with you — less effort and struggle. But perhaps it's a time when very little happens unless you are open, and looking, and willing to receive or to act. The Chinese, again, looked at life as consisting of times when the "way is open" and times when the "way is closed." You will develop your own personal and individual sense of just what these colors mean for you.

When a day, or planetary action ("transit") on a given day, or a month is neither strongly easy (blue) or challenging (red), it will appear as black. You may in fact have a very busy time, because a day with no activity will be black, but then again, a day with a great deal of activity, fairly balanced between ease and challenge, will also show up as black. So black is neutral, not necessarily quiet, just an even mix.

Your calendar provides you with two types of values in order to help you determine the flavor of the time. Besides the colors which tell you the relative ease or stress, we include measures of activity ("busy" or "quiet") regardless of whether it's stress or ease. So a given day may not show up as particularly emphasizing stress or ease, but it may still be one of the busiest or most active days (or months) in your whole year.

In order to furnish you with perspective, your book offers its own movement into detail and out for the bigger picture. We step out and back from your life in the overviews contained in the following pages and in the major activity in the back of your calendar. And we move into the detail of your days and hours by showing you the planetary activity each day. Used together, you will find the Cosmic Window to be a valuable companion, whether you use it mainly to plan meetings and trips, to explore the deeper meanings and patterns of your soul and your destiny, or just for fun.

This is what you will find:

- Your Birth Chart, your Planetary Positions, your Personal Sabian Symbols and a listing of the Highlights for your year, which include your secondary and solar arc progressions.

  (Brief tech note: Prog-Nat refers to the technique of moving all factors in the chart one day's distance for every year lived and comparing to the birth chart, while Arc-Nat moves all factors the same distance - the distance the Sun travels in one day.)

- Your Personal Yearly Summary, an analysis of your personal year. You will see how your year looks by examining your own statistics based on the planetary activity in your chart. This section contains:

  ☆ The total number of red days, blue days and black days in your calendar for the year and for each month, giving you another way to track your relative ups and downs for this particular year.

  ☆ Your most favorable and most challenging months for the year.

  ☆ Your "blue-est" or most favorable days for each month and for the year.

  ☆ Your "red-est" or most challenging days for each month and for the year.

  ☆ Your astrologically busiest or most active days and month and your least active or quietest days and month for the year.

  ☆ A graph of your monthly stress and activity numbers for an easy at-a-glance look at the year.

  ☆ Your most favorable (most harmonious) planet for the entire year and the most stressed (most challenged) planet for the year and what these may mean for you.

  ☆ Your most favorable planet and most challenged planet for each month.

  ☆ Your most active (busiest) and least active (quietest) planets for the whole year and for each month.

  ☆ The lunations (Eclipses, New Moons, and Full Moons) which are significant for you personally during this year.

  ☆ Your most important challenges and opportunities presented by your major activity during this year.

- Your daily personal astrological information, which makes up the core of your book. When any single aspect or day is deemed primarily harmonious or favorable, it will appear as blue. When an aspect or day is considered stressful, it appears as red. Those we consider having the potential to go either way appear as black.

  Notice that the actual month name is also going to appear red, blue or black for each month, reflecting the overall stress or ease for that entire month.

- Included in the daily/monthly section you will find a brief description of the Mundane Astrological Highlights for the month, covering the New and Full Moons, the changes in apparent direction of the planets (stations), entries into new signs (ingresses), and noteworthy angular relationships (aspects) between the planets in the sky. This information is applicable to all of us, providing you with the general conditions of the time, the astrological "weather".

- Your Monthly Summary Pages, which provide you with favorability ratings for each and every day of your month in 15 categories, as well as the activity and stress levels for the month. The colors offer an intuitive way to feel your month.

- Your Personal Sabian Symbols for the Year follow the calendar section. These are derived from your own birth data. Two sets of four symbols are given, because the 12-month period each set symbolizes usually does not coincide with the same 12 months of your calendar. These periods are determined from your moment of birth.

- Your Major Activity, formed by the five slower moving "outer" planets (Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto), appears in the back of your book. These are referred to your daily astrological activity using their letter codes (.A., .B., .C. etc). These also are color-coded with reds, blues and blacks.

  In your Major Activity you will find a wealth of information to help you explore and to live the opportunities and challenges represented by these planetary cycles. An example from your own personal calendar is given at the beginning of the Major Activity section. Because of the amount of information it may be difficult at first to gain full benefit from the tools provided there. You may find it helpful to focus on the smaller number of aspects indicated at the end of your Yearly Summary as your key challenges and opportunities.

  In particular I recommend examining the "Cycle Histories", allowing you to explore the earlier key times for each currently active cycle. You can see how earlier events and circumstances have contributed to the situation in the present, thus revealing a deeper purpose and meaning. This can help you to know what this time calls for.

- There is also an Appendix after the Major Activity section, offering the daily statistics for each month.

  This new Cosmic Window has evolved since 1985. Its present incarnation offers by far the greatest amount of information yet by including color and statistics. But this knowledge will not serve its true purpose if it does not help you to determine how to live the best and deepest life possible for you. It is not necessary to consume and digest every fact and piece of data. Use what appeals to you.

  Here you have a very personal window for viewing your life, particularly at the times when habitual points of view dissolve or structures rupture in the inevitable processes of change that are your life and mine.

  The Cosmic Window has developed partly because of the useful suggestions of its users. I would like to encourage you to offer any constructive criticism or improvements, and also to ask any questions it may provoke.

  Thank you very much for letting the Cosmic Window be of service.

"A human being is a part of the whole, called by us 'Universe', a part limited in time and space. He experiences himself, his thoughts, and feelings as something separated from the rest — a kind of optical delusion of his consciousness. This delusion is a kind of prison for us, restricting us to our personal desires and to affection for a few persons nearest to us.

Our task must be to free ourselves from this prison by widening our circle of compassion to embrace all living creatures and the whole of nature in its beauty."

— Albert Einstein

The Cosmic Window is dedicated with gratitude to the long lineage of devoted astrologers going back through the time of the Babylonian star–priests, to those who looked up and saw order in the heavens and wanted to communicate that order to their fellow humans. The love of these human beings – whether Tibetan, Hindu, Chinese, Greek, Roman, English, French, American or of any other origin – for the Mystery of the skies and its connection with Sources beyond our comprehension forms the thread that has kept this vital knowledge alive and evolving to this day.

Anything that directs our attention to the remembering of who we are serves the process of reconnecting us to the Life that brought us forth for Its own purposes.

Nothing that humanity has devised to this end is devoted so completely to just that seeking than the horoscope, the mathematically calculated chart of the positions of the heavenly bodies at the moment of birth. How long the horoscope has been with us! Whether in or out of favor, it has been humanity's constant companion as far back as we remember. In quite a few civilizations (that's civilizations, not states, cities, eras), the horoscope has received the ultimate trust from the people as the supreme guide to ensure the collective survival.

Civilizations may have differed in their approach to the horoscope both technically and interpretatively, but they have agreed upon its importance.

SIRIUS is the name of the brightest star in the heavens, the Dog Star found in the constellation Canis Majoris. It is said to predispose one to dog bites, but otherwise to give honors, fame and wealth. SIRIUS is like the cosmic Higher Self to our own Sun.

In esoteric traditions, SIRIUS is said to be the solar system from which the beings came who brought our initial human consciousness to the animal beings then living on the Earth. It has been called "The Great Instructor of Mankind" and has been related to Mercury and Buddha or wisdom.

Mundane Activity

JANUARY 2015

Full Moon Jan 4 at 11:54 PM EST/ 8:54 PM PST from 14 Can 31. Sun is conjunct Pluto at 13 Cap, and FM makes a Cardinal T-Square with Uranus at 12 Ari. Saturn is also at the midpoint of this Full Moon. At this point we are well along in the process of annihilation/renewal associated with Uranus-Pluto.

New Moon Jan 20 at 8:15 AM EST/ 5:15 AM PST at 0 Aqu 09. Much quieter: sextiles Saturn at 2 Sag, uplifted perhaps by Jupiter retro opposite Merc and Venus from 20 Leo.

Planetary Changes:

Mercury Stationary turning Retrograde Jan 21 at 10:56 AM EST/ 7:56 AM PST at 17 Aqu 05. While almost opposing Jupiter retro at 19 Leo.

Venus into Aquarius Jan 3 at 9:49 AM EST/ 6:49 AM PST.

Mercury into Aquarius Jan 4 at 8:09 PM EST/ 5:09 PM PST.

Mars into Pisces Jan 12 at 5:21 AM EST/ 2:21 AM PST.

Sun into Aquarius Jan 20 at 4:44 AM EST/ 1:44 AM PST.

Venus into Pisces Jan 27 at 10:01 AM EST/ 7:01 AM PST.

Key Aspects:

Mars opposes Jupiter retro Jan 1 at 2:50 PM EST/ 11:50 AM PST from 21 Aqu 41. Heading into a stressful Full Moon (see above), this suggests enthusiastic action, or wasted and scattered energy.

Sun squares Uranus Jan 3 at 3:41 AM EST/ 12:41 AM PST from 12 Cap 38. Just before the Full Moon (see above), instability cries out for change.

Sun conjuncts Pluto Jan 3 at 6:35 PM EST/ 3:35 PM PST at 13 Cap 16. Part of the same package as above, is there some way you can help what's trying to happen?

Mars squares Saturn Jan 15 at 1:11 AM EST/ Jan 14 at 10:11 PM PST from 2 Pisc 12. Mars also conjuncts Neptune at 5 Pisc. So the tension is between compassionate action and the need for patience and respect for limits.

Venus opposes Jupiter retro Jan 19 at 8:45 AM EST/ 5:45 AM PST from 19 Aqu 57. As the New Moon approaches, perhaps leniency, generosity, or over-the-top show.

Mars conjuncts Neptune Jan 19 at 7:10 PM EST/ 4:10 PM PST at 5 Pisc 55. Imagine Mars being weighed down or stopped when squaring Saturn (see above), now escaping, with or without its purpose executed.

Venus squares Saturn Jan 30 at 3:24 AM EST/ 12:24 AM PST from 3 Pisc 23. Following where Mars passed a couple of weeks ago, try to look at things realistically even if it means sobriety costs you your cherished fantasies.

Sun conjuncts Mercury retro Jan 30 at 8:46 AM EST/ 5:46 AM PST at 10 Aqu 20.

Mars conjuncts Chiron Jan 31 at 3:24 PM EST/ 12:24 PM PST at 15 Pisc 10.

In addition, Venus sextiles Saturn Jan 3-4, Sun sextiles Chiron Jan 4, Mercury sextiles Saturn Jan 5, Venus sextiles Uranus Jan 13, Mercury sextiles Uranus Jan 13-14, Sun sextiles Saturn Jan 22-23, Mercury sextiles Uranus Jan 27-28, Mars sextiles Pluto Jan 29-30.

JANUARY 2015

3 red days
22 blue days
6 black days

☆ Your Most Favorable Days	January 30 (16)
☆ Your Most Challenging Days	January 2 (–4)
☆ Your Busiest Days	January 21,27 (28)
☆ Your Quietest Days	January 3 (9)

☆ Your Most Favorable Planet for January: VENUS (110)

Luxurious pleasures and loving connections with others are probably available to you now. Your attractiveness and worth are enhanced.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for January: MERCURY (–176)

Communication may be challenging and your thinking may not be clear. Traveling is also not likely to go smoothly at this time.

☆ Your Busiest Planet this month is your SATURN (235)

☆ Your Quietest Planet this month is your JUPITER (33)

Now is the time to focus on your practical needs, responsibilities and details. Do not avoid them or try to lose yourself in dreams. Also be aware of any fear-imposed limit you carry. It's like they let the air out of the balloon. Your ability to see the big picture or what's ahead may be lost for the time being.

☆ Your Busiest Days	February 7 (27)
☆ Your Quietest Days	February 18,22 (6)

Be willing to receive, to carry, to hold and to nurture. Openness and vulnerability are favored now. Take in what is being offered.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for February: SATURN (—156)

Mundane Activity

MARCH 2015

Full Moon Mar 5 at 1:07 PM EST/ 10:07 AM PST from 14 Virg 50. Sun conjuncts Chiron at 17 Pis and Neptune at 7 Pis. Mediated by a trine/sextile to Pluto at 15 Cap. Also featured at this time is an interesting Venus–Mars-Uranus conjunction in Aries, squared to Pluto (see below). Soft imaginative sensitivity at the same time as potent creativity.

New Moon Eclipse Mar 20 at 5:37 AM EDT/ 2:37 AM PDT at 29 Pisc 27. Just before the vernal equinox, a mixed message, in the final degree of the zodiac, the New Moon signals birth.

Planetary Changes:

Saturn Stationary turning Retro Mar 14 at 11:03 AM EDT/ 8:03 AM PDT at 4 Sag 55. Almost reaching a square to Neptune at 7 Pisc before turning back.

Mercury into Pisces Mar 12 at 11:53 PM EDT/ 8:53 PM PDT.

Venus into Taurus Mar 17 at 6:16 AM EDT/ 3:16 AM PDT.

Sun into Aries Mar 20 at 6:46 PM EDT/ 3:46 PM PDT.

Mercury into Aries Mar 30 at 9:43 PM EDT/ 6:43 PM PDT.

Mars into Taurus Mar 31 at 12:28 PM EDT/ 9:28 AM PDT.

Key Aspects:

Mercury opposes Jupiter retro Mar 1 at 4:16 PM EST/ 1:16 PM PST from 14 Aqu 45. Mercury also sextiles Uranus at 14 Ari and Venus at 11 Ari, suggesting words or thoughts that can be expansively original. Or shockingly overdone.

Jupiter retro trines Uranus Mar 3 at 7:25 AM EST/ 4:25 AM PST from 14 Leo 35. Amidst the climactic final Uranus/Pluto square this month, this slow-moving trine also includes now Venus conjuncting Uranus along with Mars, and the Moon conjuncting Jupiter. Take advantage of this most fortuitous creative time.

Venus conjuncts Uranus Mar 4 at 1:47 PM EST/ 10:47 AM PST at 14 Ari 38. Exactly trining Jupiter retro at 14 Leo, and sextile Mercury at 18 Aqu (see above). Squares Pluto at 15 Cap. Continuing to highlight this intensely creative and transformative time. What do you have to say?

Venus squares Pluto Mar 4 at 10:18 PM EST/ 7:18 PM PST from 15 Ari 04. Something needs to change or be eliminated. Try something new. What attracts you?

Mars conjuncts Uranus Mar 11 at 12:07 PM EDT/ 9:07 AM PDT at 15 Ari 00. As Venus scurries away (see above), it's Mars' turn. Exact square to Pluto at 15 Cap as well. This has often been an explosive combination. Now aided by a trine to Jupiter retro at 13 Leo. It seems decisive action MUST be taken.

Mars squares Pluto Mar 11 at 6:40 PM EDT/ 3:40 PM PDT from 15 Ari 12. Suggesting forceful action, strong will, with resistance. Dampened perhaps by a Moon-Saturn conjunction occurring today as well.

Mercury squares Saturn stationary Mar 16 at 5:42 AM EDT/ 2:42 AM PDT from 4 Pisc 55. Calls for serious objectivity and simple words or silence, while not forgetting your dreams and imagination (see below).

Uranus squares Pluto stationary Mar 16 at 10:55 PM EDT/ 7:55 PM PDT from 15 Ari 18. At last, the final square between these two; number 7 of 7. Starting in 2012, this has been the main focus of astrologers for our times, indicating upheaval, cleansing, intense struggle, and (hopefully) transformation.

Mercury conjuncts Neptune Mar 18 at 4:50 AM EDT/ 1:50 AM PDT at 8 Pisc 01. Joined by the Moon later today, this is part of Mercury's passage over the current Saturn-Neptune square. It asks for communication of the tension between boundaries and limits versus dreams or fantasies of unlimited aspirations.

Venus squares Jupiter retro Mar 27 at 10:12 PM EDT/ 7:12 PM PDT from 12 Tau 48. Easy to overdo acquisitiveness, possessiveness, or greed. Time for pleasure, but what's too much?

In addition, Mercury sextiles Uranus Mar 1, Venus trines Jupiter Mar 3-4, Sun sextiles Pluto Mar 5, Sun conjuncts Chiron Mar 7, Mars trines Jupiter Mar 9-10, Mercury sextiles Pluto Mar 22, Venus sextiles Neptune Mar 23-24, Mercury conjuncts Chiron Mar 23-24, Sun trines Saturn Mar 25, Venus trines Pluto Mar 29-30,

MARCH 2015

10 red days
7 blue days
14 black days

☆ Your Most Favorable Days	March 30 (7)
☆ Your Most Challenging Days	March 16 (–11)
☆ Your Busiest Days	March 4 (18)
☆ Your Quietest Days	March 11 (1)

☆ Your Most Favorable Planet for March: MOON (23)

Be willing to receive, to carry, to hold and to nurture. Openness and vulnerability are favored now. Take in what is being offered.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for March: SATURN (–25)

Insecurity may arise if your defenses or life structure are being challenged from within or without. What is your real foundation here?

☆ Your Busiest Planet this month is your JUPITER (87)

☆ Your Quietest Planet this month is your MERCURY (25)

Bigness, growth and expectations are important for you now. Overdoing is possible, or just a larger than usual way of seeing. Look at your plans and goals. There's not much emphasis on speaking with others or thinking about things right now. Communication is low key, and feeling may be more important than what you think.

The FULL MOON MAR 5 triggers your SATURN. The days around this time may shake your security, and make you defensive. Not necessarily comfortable, this could be a good time to examine some of your limitations.

NOTES

Mundane Activity
APRIL 2015

Full Moon Eclipse Apr 4 at 8:07 AM EDT/ 5:07 AM PDT from 14 Libr 24. This Full Moon triggers our old friend (since 2012) the Uranus-Pluto square, with Uranus at 16 Ari conjunct the Sun, and Pluto square from 15 Cap. Thus a potent Cardinal T-Square. Tough placement for the US.

New Moon Apr 18 at 2:58 PM EDT/ 11:58 AM PDT at 28 Ari 25. Either very quiet, or a wild card, because this New Moon makes no aspects or connections with any other planets. But the New Moon in Aries is traditionally a good time for starting something.

Planetary Changes:

Jupiter Stationary turning Direct Apr 8 at 12:56 PM EDT/ 9:56 AM PDT at 12 Leo 35. Adding strength to its current trine to Sun, Mercury and Uranus at 16-18 Ari.

Pluto Stationary turning Retrograde Apr 16 at 11:56 PM EDT/ 8:56 PM PDT at 15 Cap 32. Intensifying the ongoing square with Uranus a 17 Ari.

Venus into Gemini Apr 11 at 11:30 AM EDT/ 8:30 AM PDT.

Mercury into Taurus Apr 14 at 6:53 PM EDT/ 3:53 PM PDT.

Sun into Taurus Apr 20 at 5:43 AM EDT/ 2:43 AM PDT.

Mercury into Gemini Apr 30 at 10:01 PM EDT/ 7:01 PM PDT.

Key Aspects:

Sun squares Pluto Apr 5 at 11:09 AM EDT/ 8:09 AM PDT from 15 Ari 30. For 3 years, every three months, the Sun has acted as a trigger for the ongoing Uranus-Pluto square. In addition, this time the Sun is also trining Jupiter retro at 12 Leo, suggesting beneficial forces at work, or at least helping to relieve the stress of the square (see Full Moon above).

Sun conjuncts Uranus Apr 6 at 10:09 AM EDT/ 7:09 AM PDT at 16 Ari 27. Same as above, and Mercury is conjunct the Sun for both of these aspects, adding in a mental and communicative slant, perhaps disrupting travel as well. Favorable for new ideas.

Mercury squares Pluto Apr 7 at 8:08 PM EDT/ 5:08 PM PDT from 15 Ari 31. Lots of pressure either to speak, or to keep quiet.

Mercury conjuncts Uranus Apr 8 at 8:21 AM EDT/ 5:21 AM PDT at 16 Ari 33. Do you dare to speak your truth? To hear theirs?

Sun conjuncts Mercury Apr 10 at 12:01 AM EDT/ Apr 9 at 9:01 PM PDT at 19 Ari 58.

Venus opposes Saturn retro Apr 15 at 12:26 AM EDT/ Apr 14 at 9:26 PM PDT from 4 Gem 07. Forming a Mutable T-Square with Moon at 5 Pis and Neptune at 9 Pis. Confusion about worth and value, including a debate between what you wish and what is.

Mars squares Jupiter Apr 17 at 8:30 PM EDT/ 5:30 PM PDT from 12 Taur 43. You may be hasty, and motives may not be clear (or be too clear) as this coincides with a Moon-Uranus conjunction at 17 Ari.

Venus squares Neptune Apr 19 at 6:30 AM EDT/ 3:30 AM PDT from 9 Gem 03. Emphasizing the more idealistic and less realistic piece of this T-Square (see two paragraphs above).

Mercury squares Jupiter Apr 21 at 12:17 AM EDT/ Apr 20 at 9:17 PM PDT from 12 Taur 49. Continuing the theme of escapism and exaggeration (lack of objectivity), and energized by the remnants of Mars squaring Jupiter (see above). Driving too fast?

Mercury conjuncts Mars Apr 22 at 7:04 PM EDT/ 4:04 PM PDT at 16 Tau 18. Both square to Jupiter at 13 Leo. Too much? Too fast? But a good time to enthusiastically put your message across.

In addition, Venus sextiles Chiron Apr 1, Mercury trines Saturn Apr 1-2, Sun trines Jupiter Apr 2, Mercury trines Jupiter Apr 5-6, Mars sextiles Neptune Apr 12, Mercury sextiles Neptune Apr 18-19, Mars trines Pluto Apr 21, Mercury trines Pluto Apr 21-22, Venus sextiles Jupiter Apr 22, Mercury sextiles Chiron Apr 24, Venus sextiles Uranus Apr 26, Mars sextiles Chiron Apr 27-28, Venus squares Chiron Apr 28-29, Sun sextiles Neptune Apr 29.

☆ Your Quietest Days	April 28,29 (4)

☆ Your Most Favorable Planet for April: MOON (168)

Be willing to receive, to carry, to hold and to nurture. Openness and vulnerability are favored now. Take in what is being offered.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for April: URANUS (—27)

Restlessness and a desire for freedom may make you irritable or unstable. If it really is time for change, then you may need to do it anyway. Things could be shaky.

☆ Your Busiest Planet this month is your MOON (216)

☆ Your Quietest Planet this month is your VENUS (26)

Pay attention to home and close personal relations. Listen and receive, and take care of yourself and those closest to you. Attend to the child inside you. Love, relationship, money or appreciation may be in short supply. Attention needs to go elsewhere at this time.

NOTES

Mundane Activity
MAY 2015

Full Moon May 3 at 11:43 PM EDT/ 8:43 PM PDT from 13 Sco 23. A powerful tension is possible. One man's pig-headedness is another's trustworthiness. A Fixed T-Square with Jupiter at 13 Leo.

New Moon May 18 at 12:14 AM EDT/ May 17 at 9:14 PM PDT at 26 Tau 56. Oppressed or secretly conspiring, this New Moon is only widely opposed by Saturn at 2 Sag. Endure.

Planetary Changes:

Mercury Stationary turning Retrograde May 18 at 9:49 PM EDT/ 6:49 PM PDT at 13 Gem 08.

Venus into Cancer May 7 at 6:53 PM EDT/ 3:53 PM PDT.

Mars into Gemini May 11 at 10:41 PM EDT/ 7:41 PM PDT.

Sun into Gemini May 21 at 4:46 AM EDT/ 1:46 AM PDT.

Key Aspects:

Mercury opposes Saturn retro May 3 at 4:34 AM EDT/ 1:34 AM PDT from 3 Gem 03. Just as Venus did last month, Mercury passes through forming a Mutable T-Square with Neptune at 9 Pis. Because it soon retrogrades, this will be the first of three times doing this. A lengthy dialogue between wishful thinking and misleading words on the one hand, and sticking only to the facts or facing repercussions on the other.

Sun squares Jupiter May 4 at 5:03 AM EDT/ 2:03 AM PDT from 13 Tau 35. A possible peak of the Full Moon (see above).

Mercury squares Neptune May 9 at 12:08 PM EDT/ 9:08 AM PDT from 9 Gem 30. Completing the first pass through the T-Square, escaping responsibilities and realities.

Mars opposes Saturn retro May 15 at 2:02 AM EDT/ May 14 at 11:02 PM PDT from 2 Gem 13. There's a lot going on here, because the Uranus-Pluto square currently wreaking havoc occupies the midpoint of this opposition. Explosive, repressive, forceful and enduring.

Venus opposes Pluto retro May 21 at 9:58 PM EDT/ 6:58 PM PDT from 15 Can 15. Venus also conjuncts Moon at 19 Can. Are we seeing the power of the feminine or its repression?

Sun opposes Saturn retro May 22 at 9:36 PM EDT/ 6:36 PM PDT from 1 Gem 38. A push downward just before the Moon bounces back as it reaches its own conjunction with Jupiter at 15 Leo in 23 hours.

Venus squares Uranus May 25 at 1:11 PM EDT/ 10:11 AM PDT from 19 Can 02. Has something shifted in the past week? (see above)

Mars squares Neptune May 25 at 7:39 PM EDT/ 4:39 PM PDT from 9 Gem 44. Mars in cahoots with Sun at 4 Gem and Mercury retro at 11 Gem, with the Moon at 7 Vir forming a quick and elusive Mutable T-Square. Great for subterfuge.

Mercury retro conjuncts Mars May 27 at 6:38 AM EDT/ 3:38 AM PDT at 10 Gem 44. Second time in a month, with Mercury retrograde. Keeping alive the Mutable T-Square with Neptune at 9 Pis and Saturn retro at 1 Sag.

Mercury retro squares Neptune May 29 at 3:02 AM EDT/ 12:02 AM PDT from 9 Gem 45. Second time since the 9th (see above).

Sun conjuncts Mercury retro May 30 at 12:57 PM EDT/ 9:57 AM PDT at 8 Gem 58.

Sun squares Neptune May 31 at 9:09 AM EDT/ 6:09 AM PDT from 9 Gem 46. Leaving with Mars at 13 Gem, this now leaves Mercury as the only character at this corner of the Mutable T-Square with Saturn and Neptune. A lot of masculine energy with assertive words goes off to intensify for next month.

In addition, Sun trines Pluto May 5-6, Sun sextiles Chiron May 11, Venus trines Neptune May 16, Venus trines Chiron May 27.

Personal Monthly Summary

MAY 2015

12 red days
8 blue days
11 black days

☆ Your Most Favorable Days	May 29 (13)
☆ Your Most Challenging Days	May 17 (–8)
☆ Your Busiest Days	May 31 (21)
☆ Your Quietest Days	May 2 (2)

☆ Your Most Favorable Planet for May: VENUS (72)

Luxurious pleasures and loving connections with others are probably available to you now. Your attractiveness and worth are enhanced.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for May: URANUS (–108)

Restlessness and a desire for freedom may make you irritable or unstable. If it really is time for change, then you may need to do it anyway. Things could be shaky.

☆ Your Busiest Planet this month is your URANUS (130)

☆ Your Quietest Planet this month is your MERCURY (26)

Stimulation and new experiences are important now. Innovate and experiment; don't stay in a rut. Ask yourself how far you need to go in finding real independence. There's not much emphasis on speaking with others or thinking about things right now. Communication is low key, and feeling may be more important than what you think.

The FULL MOON MAY 3 triggers your MIDHEAVEN. The balance between your outer social activity and your inner domain, including your home, needs to be watched now.

☆ Your Most Favorable Days	June 30 (16)
☆ Your Most Challenging Days	June (0)
☆ Your Busiest Days	June 13 (24)
☆ Your Quietest Days	June 23 (8)

☆ Your Most Favorable Planet for June: VENUS (149)

Luxurious pleasures and loving connections with others are probably available to you now. Your attractiveness and worth are enhanced.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for June: URANUS (−44)

Restlessness and a desire for freedom may make you irritable or unstable. If it really is time for change, then you may need to do it anyway. Things could be shaky.

☆ Your Busiest Planet this month is your VENUS (159)

☆ Your Quietest Planet this month is your MERCURY (29)

The emphasis is on issues of the heart, and your sense of self-worth. Are you over-indulging or just seeking what you truly deserve? There's not much emphasis on speaking with others or thinking about things right now. Communication is low key, and feeling may be more important than what you think.

NOTES

Mundane Activity
JULY 2015

Full Moon Jul 1 at 10:21 PM EDT/ 7:21 PM PDT from 9 Cap 55. Moon conjuncts Pluto retro at 14 Cap, Sun conjuncts Mars at 5 Canc. All form a Cardinal T-Square with Uranus at 20 Ari. Clashes, warfare, power struggles.

New Moon Jul 15 at 9:25 PM EDT/ 6:25 PM PDT at 23 Can 14. Widely opposing Pluto retro at 14 Cap, squaring Uranus at 20 Ari, and forming a Grand Water Trine with Saturn retro at 28 Sco and Chiron retro at 21 Pis. Can you turn the energies of tension into a healing bath?

Full Moon Jul 31 at 6:44 AM EDT/ 3:44 AM PDT from 7 Aqu 56. A quiet one.

Planetary Changes:

Venus Stationary turning Retrograde Jul 25 at 5:30 AM EDT/ 2:30 AM PDT at 0 Vir 46.

Uranus Stationary turning Retrograde Jul 26 at 6:39 AM EDT/ 3:39 AM PDT at 20 Ari 30.

Mercury into Cancer Jul 8 at 2:53 PM EDT/ 11:53 AM PDT.

Venus into Virgo Jul 18 at 6:39 PM EDT/ 3:39 PM PDT.

Sun into Leo Jul 22 at 11:32 PM EDT/ 8:32 PM PDT.

Mercury into Leo Jul 23 at 8:15 AM EDT/ 5:15 AM PDT.

Venus into Leo Jul 31 at 11:28 AM EDT/ 8:28 AM PDT.

Key Aspects:

Venus conjuncts Jupiter Jul 1 at 3:52 AM EDT/ 12:52 AM PDT at 21 Leo 37. This will be a three-hit affair, as Venus goes retrograde this month and returns to join Jupiter until October 25. This confident (Leo) expansiveness and eye for creativity (trines Uranus at 20 Ari) is challenged by a square from Saturn retro at 29 Sco.

Mercury squares Chiron Jul 3 at 11:07 AM EDT/ 8:07 AM PDT from 21 Gem 31.

Sun opposes Pluto retro Jul 6 at 11:39 AM EDT/ 8:39 AM PDT from 14 Can 15. Forming a Cardinal T-Square with Uranus at 20 Ari. Mars conjuncts Sun from 8 Can. Stressful. Treacherous. Venus-Jupiter is still around to inspire you.

Sun squares Uranus Jul 12 at 10:54 PM EDT/ 7:54 PM PDT from 20 Can 25. First one through the Cardinal T-Square, followed by slower and more inflammatory Mars (see below).

Venus squares Saturn retro Jul 14 at 2:49 AM EDT/ Jul 13 at 11:49 PM PDT from 28 Leo 34. A quite lengthy square, because Venus is stationing this month, taking until Oct 10. Time to love the dark parts, soften the hardness.

Mars opposes Pluto retro Jul 15 at 10:13 AM EDT/ 7:13 AM PDT from 14 Can 02. Extra strong, at the New Moon (see above) and Mercury nearby. Friction, tension, Kinship may hold the key.

Mercury opposes Pluto retro Jul 15 at 7:41 PM EDT/ 4:41 PM PDT from 14 Can 01. Pressure to assert, put forward. Is Pluto repression?

Mercury conjuncts Mars Jul 16 at 12:15 AM EDT/ Jul 15 at 9:15 PM PDT at 14 Can 25. In the dark of the New Moon, someone somewhere is struggling to be heard.

Mercury squares Uranus Jul 18 at 9:08 PM EDT/ 6:08 PM PDT from 20 Can 28. Original or surprising thoughts or words. Erratic driving.

Sun conjuncts Mercury Jul 23 at 3:25 PM EDT/ 12:25 PM PDT at 0 Leo 37.

Mars squares Uranus Jul 25 at 5:44 AM EDT/ 2:44 AM PDT from 20 Can 30. The fireworks at the climax of this month's Cardinal T-Square, which now begins to dissipate. Uranus very strong at this time as it stations.

In addition, Sun trines Neptune Jul 1, Mercury sextiles Uranus Jul 2, Mercury sextiles Jupiter Jul 3, Mercury sextiles Venus Jul 4-5, Mars trines Neptune Jul 8, Mercury trines Neptune Jul 13, Sun trines Chiron Jul 13, Mercury trines Chiron Jul 18-19, Sun trines Saturn Jul 20-21, Mercury trines Saturn Jul 22, Mars trines Chiron Jul 25-26.

☆ Your Most Favorable Days	July 1 (13)
☆ Your Most Challenging Days	July 10 (–8)
☆ Your Busiest Days	July 1 (25)
☆ Your Quietest Days	July 28 (0)

☆ Your Most Favorable Planet for July: SATURN (133)

You are safe now and the structures of your life are being strengthened or reinforced. Stability and security can be found in the traditions that matter.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for July: MARS (—19)

You may be challenged in how you assert yourself. Perhaps it would be better to wait or at least to examine your motives thoroughly. Could be hard work.

☆ Your Busiest Planet this month is your SATURN (167)

☆ Your Quietest Planet this month is your MOON (27)

Now is the time to focus on your practical needs, responsibilities and details. Do not avoid them or try to lose yourself in dreams. Also be aware of any fear-imposed limit you carry. It may be hard to find time to take care of your emotional needs now. Your usual sense of being contained or held by others or your home may be missing.

The NEW MOON JUL 31 triggers your JUPITER. Look for opportunities and opening doors. Enthusiasm and optimism are strengthened during this time. This could be a very favorable period.

VENUS enters LEO 8:28 AM (PDT)

Mundane Activity
AUGUST 2015

New Moon Aug 14 at 10:55 AM EDT/ 7:55 AM PDT at 21 Leo 31. Conjuncts Venus retro at 23 Leo, all square Saturn at 28 Sco, and trining Uranus retro at 20 Ari. The traditional interferes with radiant self-expression. Look for ways to experiment (see below).

Full Moon Aug 29 at 2:36 PM EDT/ 11:36 AM PDT from 6 Pis 06. Sun conjuncts Jupiter at 4 Vir and Moon conjuncts Neptune retro at 8 Pis, all forming a wide T-Square with Saturn at 29 Sco. This one's got it all: Saturn pushing down, Jupiter expanding, Neptune dissolving, and a Mars-Venus conjunction in Leo too.

Planetary Changes:

Saturn Stationary turning Direct Aug 2 at 1:54 AM EDT/ Aug 1 at 10:54 PM PDT at 28 Sco 16.

Mercury into Virgo Aug 7 at 3:16 PM EDT/ 12:16 PM PDT.

Mars into Leo Aug 8 at 7:33 PM EDT/ 4:33 PM PDT.

Jupiter into Virgo Aug 11 at 7:12 AM EDT/ 4:12 AM PDT.

Sun into Virgo Aug 23 at 6:38 AM EDT/ 3:38 AM PDT.

Mercury into Libra Aug 27 at 11:46 AM EDT/ 8:46 AM PDT.

Key Aspects:

Jupiter squares Saturn Aug 3 at 6:37 AM EDT/ 3:37 AM PDT from 28 Leo 17. The theme for the month, with Venus retro at 29 Leo, we have warm flamboyant showing off interfered with by cold withholding.

Venus retro conjuncts Jupiter Aug 4 at 5:48 PM EDT/ 2:48 PM PDT at 28 Leo 35. Aries Moon at the midpoint. Generosity confronts conservatism.

Venus retro squares Saturn Aug 5 at 11:09 AM EDT/ 8:09 AM PDT from 28 Leo 17. More of the same.

Mercury conjuncts Venus retro Aug 6 at 10:26 AM EDT/ 7:26 AM PDT at 27 Leo 51. Mercury enters the picture, joining Venus and Jupiter at 27-28 Leo. Same theme: Jupiter/Leo enthusiasm and drama, bringing to light defensiveness.

Mercury squares Saturn Aug 6 at 4:20 PM EDT/ 1:20 PM PDT from 28 Leo 17. What's blocking or holding back?

Mercury conjuncts Jupiter Aug 7 at 3:10 AM EDT/ 12:10 AM PDT at 29 Leo 06. Talk too much?

Mercury opposes Neptune retro Aug 12 at 9:12 PM EDT/ 6:12 PM PDT from 8 Vir 55. Wishful thinking, articulating ideals and imagination.

Sun conjuncts Venus retro Aug 15 at 3:23 PM EDT/ 12:23 PM PDT at 22 Leo 39. Beauty mixed with practicality.

Sun squares Saturn Aug 21 at 7:41 PM EDT/ 4:41 PM PDT from 28 Leo 35. What has the tension been about for this month? What has been the Saturn influence, restricting, delaying, demanding patience?

Sun conjuncts Jupiter Aug 26 at 6:03 PM EDT/ 3:03 PM PDT at 3 Vir 21. At the midpoint of Saturn/Neptune. Though Neptune would like to soar freely in dreams and fantasies, Saturn wants his due, which is often inescapable.

Sun opposes Neptune retro Aug 31 at 11:39 PM EDT/ 8:39 PM PDT from 8 Vir 24. Now perhaps is the time when escapism and imagination can happen, as the Saturn influence fades.

In addition, Mercury trines Uranus Aug 1-2, Mars trines Saturn Aug 5-6, Sun trines Uranus Aug 12-13, Mercury trines Pluto Aug 15, Venus trines Uranus Aug 19, Mercury opposes Chiron Aug 19-20, Mercury sextiles Saturn Aug 26.

AUGUST 2015

4 red days
12 blue days
15 black days

☆ Your Most Favorable Days	August 24 (7)
☆ Your Most Challenging Days	August 6 (–8)
☆ Your Busiest Days	August 31 (16)
☆ Your Quietest Days	August 7 (2)

☆ Your Most Favorable Planet for August: MARS (96)

Go for it. Take action, make decisions and assert yourself. Follow your passion (within reason) and give life a push.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for August: JUPITER (—22)

Your desire to expand or succeed may be thwarted now, or perhaps unclear. Your vision may need adjusting or you might be over-reaching.

☆ Your Busiest Planet this month is your MARS (142)

☆ Your Quietest Planet this month is your VENUS (29)

The focus now is on how you assert yourself, whether or not you are pushy or just going after what you want. Anger may possibly need attention. Love, relationship, money or appreciation may be in short supply. Attention needs to go elsewhere at this time.

The NEW MOON AUG 14 triggers your ASCENDANT. More energy is likely to be involved in your relationships and how you see yourself and others. Examine where you seem to be headed.

The FULL MOON AUG 29 triggers your MERCURY. Communication, writing and study or thought can be stimulated during this time. Look for connections to be made.

Personal Monthly Summary

SEPTEMBER 2015

16 red days
4 blue days
10 black days

☆ Your Most Favorable Days	September 1 (8)
☆ Your Most Challenging Days	September 4, 8 (–6)
☆ Your Busiest Days	September 1 (17)
☆ Your Quietest Days	September 16,21,23 (4)

☆ Your Most Favorable Planet for September: MARS (33)

Go for it. Take action, make decisions and assert yourself. Follow your passion (within reason) and give life a push.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for September: URANUS (—117)

Restlessness and a desire for freedom may make you irritable or unstable. If it really is time for change, then you may need to do it anyway. Things could be shaky.

☆ Your Busiest Planet this month is your URANUS (139)

☆ Your Quietest Planet this month is your VENUS (24)

Stimulation and new experiences are important now. Innovate and experiment; don't stay in a rut. Ask yourself how far you need to go in finding real independence. Love, relationship, money or appreciation may be in short supply. Attention needs to go elsewhere at this time.

The LUNAR ECLIPSE SEP 27 triggers your MARS. This can be a few days when you need to push forward. If not, irritability can arise. Aggression may be a sign of frustrated initiative or blocked decisions.

Mundane Activity

OCTOBER 2015

New Moon Oct 12 at 8:07 PM EDT/ 5:07 PM PDT at 19 Lib 20. Cardinal T-Square with Pluto at 13 Cap and Uranus at18 Ari.

Full Moon Oct 27 at 8:06 AM/ 5:06 AM PDT from 3 Tau 45. Potentially uplifting time, with Venus-Mars-Jupiter conjunction in Virgo.

Planetary Changes:

Mercury Stationary turning Direct Oct 9 at 10:59 AM EDT/ 7:59 AM PDT at 0 Lib 53.

Venus into Virgo Oct 8 at 1:30 PM EDT/ 10:30 AM PDT.

Sun into Scorpio Oct 23 at 1:48 PM EDT/ 10:48 AM PDT.

Key Aspects:

Sun squares Pluto Oct 6 at 10:16 AM EDT/ 7:16 AM PDT from 13 Lib 00. Sun passing through Cardinal T-Square with Uranus retro at 18 Ari.

Mars opposes Neptune retro Oct 6 at 10:54 PM EDT/ 7:54 PM PDT from 7 Vir 29. Mars crossing over the Jupiter-Neptune opposition, energizing Jupiter.

Venus squares Saturn Oct 10 at 8:32 PM EDT/ 5:32 PM PDT from 1 Vir 54. Along with Mars and Jupiter at 9-12 Vir, and Neptune retro at 7 Pis, forming a lengthy Mutable T-Square which could go either way.

Sun opposes Uranus retro Oct 11 at 11:51 PM EDT/ 8:51 PM PDT from 18 Lib 30. At New Moon (see above). A wake-up call?

Venus opposes Neptune retro Oct 16 at 10:54 PM EDT/ 7:54 PM PDT from 7 Vir 8. Strong Mutable T-Square with Neptune at 7 Pis and Moon at 9 Sag and Saturn at 2 Sag. Mars and Jupiter at 13-14 Virgo too. It's about values that should be able to withstand doubt, tests, or disillusionment.

Mars conjuncts Jupiter Oct 17 at 6:41 PM EDT/ 3:41 PM PDT at 14 Vir 11. Mutable T-Square with Chiron retro at 17 Pis and Moon at 19 Sag. This conjunction also trines Pluto at 13 Cap. Optimal time for taking care of details and working hard.

Mercury squares Pluto Oct 22 at 5:23 PM EDT/ 2:23 PM PDT from 13 Lib 10. Cardinal T-Square with Uranus retro at 18 Ari. What are you thinking?

Mars opposes Chiron retro Oct 23 at 4:49 AM EDT/ 1:49 AM PDT from 17 Vir 31.

Venus conjuncts Jupiter Oct 25 at 4:04 PM EDT/ 1:04 PM PDT at 15 Vir 38. This aspect first formed on July 1 and this is the third and final pass. We have Mars conjunct this Venus-Jupiter conjunction, all trine Pluto at 13 Cap and opposing Chiron retro at 17 Pis. There's energy to be squandered here. How will you use it?

Mercury opposes Uranus retro Oct 25 at 7:01 PM EDT/ 4:01 PM PDT from 17 Lib 57. Completing this most recent Cardinal T-Square, with Moon conjunct Uranus at 10 Ari. Try looking at things from a different perspective.

Venus opposes Chiron retro Oct 27 at 10:08 AM EDT/ 7:08 AM PDT from 17 Vir 23.

In addition, Mercury sextiles Saturn Oct 6, Jupiter trines Pluto Oct 11, Mercury sextiles Saturn Oct 12-13, Mars trines Pluto Oct 15, Venus trines Pluto Oct 22-23, Sun trines Neptune Oct 30.

NOVEMBER 2015

New Moon Nov 11 at 12:48 PM EST/ 9:48 AM PST at 19 Sco 01. Sextiles Jupiter at 18 Vir, and trines Chiron retro at 17 Pis. Look for healing insights or treatments.

Full Moon Nov 25 at 5:45 PM EST/ 2:45 PM PST from 3 Gem 20. Sun is conjunct Saturn at 7 Sag and Mercury at 8 Sag. All make a Mutable T-Square with Neptune at 7 Pis. Continuing the theme of Saturn square Neptune, limits versus all-inclusive, material reality versus imagination and dream, standing alone versus communing with All.

Planetary Changes:

Neptune Stationary turning Direct Nov 18 at 11:32 AM EST/ 8:32 AM PST at 7 Pis 01. This station makes the square with Saturn even stronger.

Chiron Stationary turning Direct Nov 28 at 1:44 AM EST/ Nov 27 at 10:44 PM PST at 16 Pis 56.

Mercury into Scorpio Nov 2 at 2:07 AM EST/ Nov 1 at 11:07 PM PST.

Venus into Libra Nov 8 at 10:32 AM EST/ 7:32 AM PST.

Mars into Libra Nov 12 at 4:42 PM EST/ 1:42 PM PST.

Mercury into Sagittarius Nov 20 at 2:44 PM EST/ 11:44 AM PST.

Sun into Sagittarius Nov 22 at 10:26 AM EST/ 7:26 AM PST.

Key Aspects:

Venus conjuncts Mars Nov 2 at 8:11 PM EST/ 5:11 PM PST at 24 Vir 02. Still both conjunct Jupiter at 17 Vir. Make hay while the…

Sun conjuncts Mercury Nov 17 at 9:54 AM EST/ 6:54 AM PST at 24 Sco 55.

Venus squares Pluto Nov 20 at 9:03 PM EST/ 6:03 PM PST from 13 Lib 45. Venus enters the Cardinal T-Square.

Venus opposes Uranus retro Nov 23 at 5:14 PM EST/ 2:14 PM PST from 16 Lib 59. Stressful few days possible for relationships.

Mercury conjuncts Saturn Nov 24 at 11:58 PM EST/ 8:58 PM PST at 6 Sag 52. And conjuncts the Sun at 2 Sag, All square to Neptune at 7 Pis. Another take on the Saturn-Neptune square going on. What needs to be brought into clearer focus?.

Mercury squares Neptune Nov 25 at 2:16 AM EST/ Nov 24 at 11:16 PM PST from 7 Sag 01. (see above) Words may lack precision or seriousness.

Saturn squares Neptune Nov 26 at 7:16 AM EST/ 4:16 AM PST from 7 Sag 02. The story of this month is here, as the Sun and Mercury join in this longer square. Putting limits on fantasy or escapism. Or dissolving defense and structure.

Sun squares Neptune Nov 29 at 9:51 AM EST/ 6:51 AM PST from 7 Sag 03. Where do you see the clash between Saturn and Neptune? Is it a clash or is it more subtle?

Sun conjuncts Saturn Nov 29 at 7:17 PM EST/ 4:17 PM PST at 7 Sag 27. Does Saturn get the final word? Typically a down day.

In addition, Jupiter opposes Chiron Nov 3, Sun sextiles Pluto Nov 5, Mercury trines Neptune Nov 5-6. Personal Monthly Summary

DECEMBER 2015

5 red days
18 blue days
8 black days

☆ Your Most Favorable Days	December 1 (16)
☆ Your Most Challenging Days	December 21 (–6)
☆ Your Busiest Days	December 1 (22)
☆ Your Quietest Days	December 29,31 (3)

☆ Your Most Favorable Planet for December: VENUS (145)

Luxurious pleasures and loving connections with others are probably available to you now. Your attractiveness and worth are enhanced.

☆ Your Most Difficult Planet for December: SATURN (—12)

Insecurity may arise if your defenses or life structure are being challenged from within or without. What is your real foundation here?

☆ Your Busiest Planet this month is your VENUS (155)

☆ Your Quietest Planet this month is your MERCURY (17)

The emphasis is on issues of the heart, and your sense of self-worth. Are you over-indulging or just seeking what you truly deserve? There's not much emphasis on speaking with others or thinking about things right now. Communication is low key, and feeling may be more important than what you think.

The NEW MOON DEC 11 triggers your NEPTUNE. A dreamy time when you may look for ways to lose yourself. Not the clearest of periods for these few days. Dreams and fantasies may be stronger than usual.

The FULL MOON DEC 25 triggers your MARS. This can be a few days when you need to push forward. If not, irritability can arise. Aggression may be a sign of frustrated initiative or blocked decisions.

NOTES

The superior man or woman
Sets the calendar in order
And makes the seasons clear.

In the course of the year a combat takes place between the forces of light and the forces of darkness, eventuating in the revolution of the seasons. Human beings master these changes in nature by noting their regularity and marking off the passage of time accordingly. In this way order and clarity appear in the apparently chaotic changes of the seasons, and human beings are able to adjust themselves in advance to the demands of the different times.

The Mystery of Astrology

Look at this Hubble image of the Eagle nebula. Wonder about it. What is it? How big is it? Where is it located? How long has it been there? What does it have to do with you?

Astrology nowadays, at the start of the 21st century and the third millenium since Christ, has largely lost its soul. Entertainment and fast and easy answers are the prevailing themes. It is understandable in our times, which emphasize outer activity, materialism and scientific explanations, that astrology has largely followed the same trend. It is mainly predictive, concerned with outer events, concrete and literal situations rather than inner imaginative activity, and seeks to prove itself as worthy of respect by using computers and statistics. But why should astrology try to prove itself by the measure of values that are being proven to be a failure every day (by the technological and environmental destruction of the earth)?

Astrology should not be chasing after the modern intellect to prove it is a statistically valid predictive tool. The more it does this, the more it is losing its way, and its heart and soul. Instead, astrology is the sacred vessel that still holds the potential of reuniting us with our surrounding and containing Universe. By consciously observing the meaningful interplay between the planetary cycles in the heavens and our lived experiences, we rebuild the once common sense that we are living participants in the intelligent though mysterious processes of the Universe, not exiled and abandoned in a random and meaningless wasteland.

It is also understandable that people in crisis turn to astrology for answers. And the prevailing astrology seeks to respond. But what is lost in the process — and what is crucial — is what people are really starving for: to embrace, honor, and learn to trust the Mystery of our existence as we live it each day. This Mystery is found within. Astrology is a gift from our earliest origins, able to direct our seeking to our inner resources. But astrology must resist the temptation to supply answers and only answers.

If only astrologers could begin their responses with "It really is a mystery, isn't it?". By succumbing to the pressure of the seeker for answers ("my problems must be explained, because I cannot bear to face the emptiness of not knowing") and the need of astrology to impress the world with its skills, astrologers fail the seeker's real need, fail even to recognize it. And this too is so understandable, in a world where explanations are an addiction and mysteries are to be feared.

Astrology can still guide us to the emptiness, the unknowing, the open space in us where we might eventually hear our own answers. How? By evoking wonder. By asking the right questions instead of being so quick to give answers.

To embrace and honor the mystery of astrology means to admit and even to celebrate that none of us has any idea of how astrology works. Theories are theories, not answers. They are "as if." We do not have to give in to the pressure of a world addicted to explanations. There is nothing dishonorable about honoring a mystery.

Your Yearly Symbols are given as food for the intuition. They are based on your individual chart progressed to the present time and cover the 12-month period beginning at the time indicated. Though suggestions may be made as to their meaning, it is your own associations for the symbol(s) that are likely to be the most useful.

Yearly Symbols (June 2014*):

◆ Your main symbol describing WHAT the 12-month period from June 2014 until June 2015 is about is:

A Hindu yogi demonstrates his healing powers

This image suggests the possibility of realizing the healing results of a focusing of disciplined spiritual energies (AQU 4).

◆ The possible RESULT or GOAL of this period is symbolized in this way:

A formally dressed elderly man stands near trophies he brought back from a hunting expedition

This symbolizes the proud results of expressing one's power, whether or not such achievements are appropriate (LEO 4).

◆ The MEANS by which to reach this goal is suggested by this symbol:

The pot of gold at the end of the rainbow

This might symbolize the reward which comes from having bridged between the heavenly and material spheres (TAU 4).

◆ The MEANING or PURPOSE of all this for your life as a whole:

A youth carries a lighted candle in a devotional ritual

Perhaps this refers to a time in which we can perform a spiritual act if we have the proper attitude, even if we are not yet mature enough to realize its implications (SCO 4).

---

* The dates for which these symbols are in effect will usually not match the start and end dates for your calendar, but are intended to overlap them, because the symbol dates are determined from your unique date and time of birth.

This method of using four Sabian symbols as an oracle is taken from An Astrological Mandala by Dane Rudhyar, Part 4.

Personal Yearly Symbols

Yearly Symbols (June 2015*):

◆ Your main symbol describing WHAT the 12-month period beginning June 2015 is about is:

A council of ancestors is seen implementing the efforts of a young leader

Perhaps this signifies that traditional ideas or systems are likely to play a major role in the expression of new ideas in critical situations-for better or worse (AQU 5).

◆ The possible RESULT or GOAL of this period is symbolized in this way:

Rock formations tower over a deep canyon

This image suggests elements of a deep and permanent force which transcends smaller personal concerns (LEO 5).

◆ The MEANS by which to reach this goal is suggested by this symbol:

A widow at an open grave

This symbol suggests the need to break free of the past and to face the void which masks the future (TAU 5).

◆ The MEANING or PURPOSE of all this for your life as a whole:

A massive rocky shore resists the pounding of the sea

This might suggest the strength of endurance and stability - or an inertial resistance to change (SCO 5).

You may find it of value to use your current symbols as a theme for meditation.

Cycle Histories

In the following section, each major activity cycle also shows a cycle history, in which earlier key phases of the currently active cycle are listed. By recalling these earlier dates and seeing if they are relevant to what the current cycle describes, you may be able to gain insight into the longer process of which this period is part. (Angles of 0, 90, 180, and 270 are often the most critical ones, and therefore may be easiest to remember.)

Critical angles are printed in red.

USING YOUR CYCLE HISTORIES

One of the real gifts astrology offers is the ability to see and to understand the rhythms and cycles that make up the flow of our lives. Some of these cycles last for decades, others for a few years, for months, or even days.

There are far too many interactive cycles present at any time for us to meaningfully keep track of them all. But when you have an important opportunity or a crisis, the historical background of the relevant planetary cycles can reveal powerful connections between earlier periods or events in your life and what is happening in the present.

Your Cosmic Window™ provides you with the necessary information so that, with a little thought, you may be able to realize how the present is the outcome of your past, and how this particular moment fits into a larger ongoing process which has been moving throughout your life.

When you look at your Major Activity cycles in the following section, it may not be practical to explore every single history in depth. But when you notice a particular cycle that seems to characterize something important for you now, that may be one with which you can work.

You may choose to focus on your most significant challenges or opportunities occurring during this time, such as:

Challenges (see your Major Activity section):

.H. ♅☌♄ APR 14 – FEB 15

As an example, let's look at this one of yours:

.I. ♃☍☽ OCT 14 – JUN 15

After familiarizing yourself with the general meaning of this particular transit cycle for your life, and the time period it will be covering (OCT 14 – JUN 15), you may want first to enter more deeply into its overall "atmosphere" by taking some quiet time to reflect on its associated meditative seed thought, or to try its visualization, or to repeat its affirmation.

CYCLE HISTORY EXAMPLE
for KATIE HOLMES

.I. ♃ ☌ ☽ OCT 14 – JUN 15

♃ ☌ ☽	Cycle History:
Origin; birth (0°):	Jun 03
Emergence (45°):	Oct 04
Test; crisis (90°):	Jan 06 - Sep 06
Opportunity (120°):	Feb 07 - Oct 07
Climax; reversal (180°):	Mar 09
Opportunity (240°):	Apr 11
Test; crisis (270°):	Apr 12

After deepening your grasp of the cycle's theme, examine the Cycle History. Note when this cycle began, Origin; birth (0°), and take some time to recall what that particular period was for you. What was happening for you in Jun 03? In particular, what can you remember that began during that time, especially having to do with the theme of "Joy"? How does this time now (OCT 14 – JUN 15) relate to that earlier period?

The easiest way to see the outlines of the given cycle is to start by focusing on the red phases, because those are usually the most noticeable, containing the most tension. Besides the Origin; birth (0°) phase, look at the next red phase - Test; crisis (90°) - which occurred around Jan 06 - Sep 06. How can you see that this time in your life was somehow a test or crisis regarding the theme of "Joy", and a development of what was only starting around Jun 03?

A turning point in most cycles occurs at its halfway point, the Climax; reversal (180°), when many of the trends since the birth of the cycle are reversed, or at least reach their conclusion or outcome. For you, this was Mar 09. How does that time relate to the birth and previous "test" period of Jan 06 - Sep 06? The "test" period is often a time of choice, and the Climax; reversal (180°) brings you face to face with the outcomes of your previous decisions.

The final red phase comes at 3/4 through the cycle, the Test; crisis (270°), and another time of choice arises. During this phase, Apr 12, a period of letting go may arise. In fact all four of the red phases usually require letting go. Here you may have questioned the purpose of activities you had taken for granted. In fact they may have run their course, making it necessary to face a growing sense of emptiness and lack of direction. How does this relate to the theme of the cycle?

Now you are well on your way to enriching your understanding of the present, and how this time is a "challenge" or "opportunity" (or both) in the continuing development of the cycle as a whole.

For an explanation of the phases and overall concept of the cycle, see the article "The Astrological Cycle" in the Appendix. I hope you will find the Cycle Histories a rich and enjoyable way to discern the patterns and cycles interwoven through your life.

The arising in us of an archetypal complex can serve as a window to a universe, indeed a door and a pathway, but it can also serve as an enclosing wall, an impermeable boundary and barrier that effectively creates a limit to our universe of possibilities. Only a critical awareness of that potential boundary, and an act of the imagination to transcend it, can open the horizon of our universe. I have found that such an awareness is mediated most effectively by a recognition of the dominant archetypal complexes and dynamics of a given time, whether for an individual or an entire civilization, and that this recognition is extraordinarily enhanced by a knowledge of what planets are in alignment at what time and for how long, an informed understanding of which can provide a crucial, irreplaceable perspective on the shifting archetypal dynamics of life.

In this sense, even when the correlations observed involve the gravest and darkest matters, the archetypal astrological perspective points to the possibility of an unexpected liberation from certain otherwise implacably confining conditions. This emancipatory potential has three different interrelated elements:

First, by providing nuanced, clarifying insight into which archetypal complexes are likely to be constellated in an individual or a society and when, such a perspective can open up a new potential for critical reflection and self-awareness—a new possibility of transcending one's unconscious immersion in the moment, and thus a crucial degree of autonomy in relation to the powerful forces at work in the individual and collective psyche.

Second, such ongoing insight provides one with an edifying sense of the relativity of every state of being in which one finds oneself, whether a state of mind, a stage of life, or an historical epoch: "This too shall pass"—both the grievous and the glorious—and however persuasive the current archetypal gestalt appears to be, it is not the whole story.

Finally, apart from the particulars of the planetary and archetypal patterning, the very recognition that such correlations exist at all, and that they continue to exist with such extraordinary consistency and elegant complexity, can nurture a profound awareness of the human condition as one of embeddedness and creative participation in a living cosmos of unfolding meaning and purpose.

YOUR MAJOR ACTIVITY

.A. ☿ △ ♄
(1/1 - 1/22, 6/22 - 7/20, 10/29 - 11/26)

.A. - .A.

During this period PLUTO is forming a 120° TRINE to your natal SATURN. This is a time when you may feel that you have outgrown something you have come to depend on for safety and security. There are certain aspects of your sense of individuality and the mask or persona you present to the world which have become unnecessary, perhaps even a burden. It is possible that increasing ambition or desire to be effective can now release you from fears of failing, if they are present. One way to understand this time is to imagine that a higher Will (or the will of your higher Self) is seeking to use you, and whatever fears or defenses which are no longer necessary to you but which are obstructing that Will can be dropped. How can you cooperate with this process? What is it that this higher Will appears to wish?

[Sequence lasts from APR 14 until NOV 15.]

Affirmation: I am my essential Self, using form and structure but not letting it imprison me.

Visualization: Imagine yourself to be a seed, lying in the ground as the earth warms during the early Spring. Visualize the life energies of the Sun and the moisture in the earth being absorbed within your core, bringing the urge for release. Let yourself will these energies to gently penetrate the shell surrounding you until it drops away.

Seed Thought: "A lobster outgrowing and shedding its shell: why, and what makes it happen?"

☿ △ ♄	Cycle History:
Emergence (45°):	Nov 82 - Sep 83
Organizing (60°):	Nov 88 - Sep 89
Test; crisis (90°):	Feb 00 - Oct 01

.B. ♆ □ ☿
(1/1 - 1/29)

.B. - .B.

During this period NEPTUNE will be SQUARE to your natal MERCURY. The principles of idealism and selflessness are demanding expression through your thinking and communications. Now is a time to use your mind in imaginative ways. This is not the best time for rigorous and logical thinking. You are better off thinking and communicating about unity and ideals, rather than analyzing or restricting yourself to only practical considerations. While you are likely to be very open (or at least should try to be) with regard to your thoughts, you may lack a sense of consistent or solid structure for your ideas or in your communications with others. As a result, it is easier for confusion or misunderstandings to occur. Try to be clear. The challenge now is not to hold on too tightly to what you knew or thought was right, yet at the same time to make your way through this time of transition trusting your ability to assimilate a broader perspective. You may be open now as a channel communicating intuitive wisdom or be telepathically sensitive to others' thoughts.

[Sequence lasts from MAR 14 until JAN 15.]

Affirmation: I am open to the inspiration of the Universal Mind.

Visualization: See your mind and the way you think about the world in the form of a book. Imagine that you go to open the book to look up something and find it completely blank. You realize that you can now write anything you want into this book. What would you like to put in it?

Seed Thought: "The gift of Uncertainty"

.C. - .C.

During this period PLUTO is forming a 120° TRINE to your natal MIDHEAVEN. This could be a time in which you cut through worn-out habits which have grown comfortable for you. There is an opportunity now to make your life expression more accurately reflect your true Self. Your home or career life could provide you with a chance to drop pretenses and to be willing to be yourself Ð honestly and without fear. This is a good time to pursue your life goals and ambitions. You have the ability now to make significant changes in your life; your personality can be expressive of greater power and influence. A good time for a thorough housecleaning.

[Sequence lasts from JAN 15 until DEC 15.]

Affirmation: I honor that which is most sacred in me.

Visualization: Imagine being a link in a large chain. Even though the purpose of the whole chain may be unknown to you, you feel instilled with a strong sense of responsibility and commitment to carry out your individual role. Part of this sense of commitment is in your belief in the sacredness of what you are doing, but you can also sense that your commitment comes through you from the chain as a whole, of which you are a part.

Seed Thought: "Not my will, but Thine."

During this period JUPITER is forming a 90° SQUARE to your natal URANUS. This combination suggests a time in which you feel a need to make breakthroughs which offer you greater freedom. Changing circumstances may offer you what you need even though they may seem to upset your plans at first. You can have insights into the kinds of changes or new areas for exploration which will best suit your growth. At times like this many have noticed a sudden liberation from burdens or limitations. Trust your intuition, and be open to sudden understandings which can free you from the limits of your old perspective. Not likely to be the most stable of times.

[Sequence lasts from OCT 14 until JUN 15.]

Affirmation: I trust my own Truth and it will set me free.

(1/17 - 2/14, 5/24 - 6/21, 11/21 - 12/19)

During this period PLUTO is forming a 60° SEXTILE to your natal VENUS. This could be a time in which you cut through worn-out habits which have grown comfortable for you. There is an opportunity now to make your values more accurately reflect your true Self. An existing or a new relationship could provide you with a chance to drop pretenses and to be willing to be yourself Ð honestly and without fear. This is a good time for your attitudes and behaviors in intimate situations to become more authentic, as you let go of games or faades. This could represent an opportunity for a deeper self-acceptance, if you want it. It may be possible now to free yourself from addictive desires which you felt were necessary to validate your self-worth. Whatever the circumstances, your heart is probably trying to open as your resistance to love is brought to the surface for healing.

.E. - .E.

[Sequence lasts from JAN 15 until SEP 16.]

Affirmation: I attract those who respond to my deepest motivations.

Visualization: Imagine an intensification of your love-nature, so that there is pouring through you a stream of harmonizing, attractive energies, copper in color. As this stream of energies passes through you and to others whom you attract, impurities are cleansed and removed from your personality, allowing you to love purely from your deepest Self.

During this period JUPITER is forming a 60° SEXTILE to your natal PLUTO. The principles of expansion and vision can easily blend with your transformative activities and need for influence. At this time you may find opportunity to make the world or your relationships conform to your plans or ideals. You will probably find yourself possessing a great deal of energy which can be used for long-term or demanding projects. If you feel overwhelmed or tense make sure you are taking care of yourself physically and allowing some rest. Can you see now how your goals relate to a larger process, perhaps to a social movement or higher purpose? You can express something now which can influence or change others. This is a good time for any kind of therapy, renewal, or renovation. You may now benefit from your present or earlier efforts to transform or heal yourself.

.G. ♃ △ ♆
(1/21 - 1/31, 6/2 - 6/12)

JUPITER is forming a 120° TRINE to your natal NEPTUNE. This can be a positive time for expressing your ideals, as well as for realizing your participation in a larger whole. It is possible that growth or expansion now can lead you into a transitional period in which you lack clarity. For some this may take the form of a spiritual or peak experience. It is also easy to let this opportunity pass in a daze. A good time for using your imagination, you may find guidance available to you through dreams or imagery. It is likely that the benefits of this time can be found in states of relative unconsciousness or in the spaces of uncertainty or emptiness within your life. You are probably open now to subtle influences within your environment, so shared experiences with others that can nourish your higher aspirations or goals are recommended.

[Sequence lasts from OCT 14 until JUN 15.]

.G. - .G.

Affirmation: I see how it can be.

Visualization: *Imagine being able to leave your body and to go to the Place where the Plan is kept which shows the design for life on Earth. .H. ♅☌♄

(1/27 - 2/16)

During this period URANUS is forming a 150° QUINCUNX your natal SATURN. You may be clarifying how stable and set your present life structure will be. Something new may be trying to break through your defenses of habit. It might even happen suddenly or unexpectedly. This is not the time to try and cling to the known and what is safe. You may feel insecure because there is an instability about this period. But if you can trust that change can work for you, you may even feel excitement about the potential for freedom now beginning. Try to be flexible and to avoid becoming rigid or defensive. There is probably room for experimentation or for greater freedom. You may be liberated from an old limitation or fear.

[Sequence lasts from APR 14 until FEB 15.]

.H. - .H.

Affirmation: I am adapting to life's surprises and my own unfoldment.

Visualization: *Imagine you are a nerve cell in the brain. You have gradually developed your own cellular identity and have a specific role to play. You have become used to this role and the habitual routine of your existence. Now a sudden nerve impulse is sending a high vibration of electrical energy through you. ♎ ♃ ☌ ☽

(1/30 - 2/9, 5/25 - 6/4)

JUPITER is CROSSING your natal MOON. This could be an emotionally uplifting time for you. You can feel good about yourself, and your innermost needs for belonging and nurturance are likely to be stimulated. This could degenerate into a passive waiting or expecting to be taken care of, or you may be inclined to offer support and nurturance to others. Your relationships with women may be particularly helpful or nurturing at this time. This is a good time to let your inner Child play. If you feel dependent and cling-y, it may be that you have been denying that side of you. Let yourself heal, and allow yourself to experience gratitude for what you have. Satisfaction or expansion can be yours as the Universe encourages your trusting.

[Sequence lasts from OCT 14 until JUN 15.]

Affirmation: I am loved.

During this period URANUS is forming a 150° QUINCUNX to your natal VENUS. The principles of freedom and originality are seeking to be expressed through your love relationships, values and sense of self-worth. This is a time of adjustment in which you should look for ways to incorporate your own individuality and uniqueness into your relationships and your values. You may be feeling a need for more freedom or experimentation in your close relationships, or if you are in a relationship your partner may be expressing a desire for these. Either way, now is the time for possibly changing your attitude toward your sense of self-worth and intimacy. It may be possible now to free yourself from addictive desires which you felt were necessary to validate your self-worth.

[Sequence lasts from MAY 14 until MAR 15.]

Affirmation: All the value I see in anything comes only from within myself.

(2/20 - 3/2, 5/5 - 5/15)

JUPITER is forming a 90° SQUARE to your natal VENUS. This is a period in which you are likely to crave pleasure, approval or intimate love. Your sense of self-worth can be high, in fact possibly even inflated. Look for and appreciate beauty in yourself and others. This could be a good time for artistic expression, though you may be feeling quite lazy. Your desire for comfort and ease may cost you an opportunity. It is easy to overdo at this time, particularly where romance or finances are concerned. There is nothing wrong with enjoying what's offered, as long as you are willing to pay the price tomorrow.

[Sequence lasts from SEP 14 until MAY 15.]

Affirmation: My value does not depend upon how others see me, but comes from within me.

Visualization: For the visualization, listen to music which uplifts you or makes you feel good. Relax with your eyes closed while you listen, and allow the music to stimulate imagery.

(2/22 - 3/22, 8/12 - 9/9, 12/26 - JAN)

During this period NEPTUNE is forming a 150° QUINCUNX to your natal JUPITER. The principles of faith, expansion and vision are being infused by compassion and inclusiveness. Your plans and goals can now be opened up to a more inclusive perspective, while your intuition and imagination are fertile and can stimulate your receptivity to creative or spiritual impressions. You may feel drawn to commit yourself to being of greater service to others. It is quite possible that this period will bring uncertainty about your future, because your expectations are in transition and may need time to clarify. You also are more likely to be unrealistic/idealistic about the future, so remember to include the practical details in any plans. If escape is your preference, that can also be accomplished quite easily now as well. This is a good time for experiencing the Truth contained in religious or philosophical teachings, behind the words and symbols.

[Sequence lasts from FEB 15 until JAN 16.]

Affirmation: I hear the quiet voice of direction in my heart.

Visualization: Imagine you are sitting with Mother Teresa in a hospice in Calcutta. Around you are many who are dying, being given care, love and support by Mother Teresa's co-workers. You can see a calm and loving acceptance in her eyes. Imagine telling her your plans and goals for your life.

Seed Thought: "Faith is the substance of things hoped for"

.M. ♃ □ MC
(2/24 - 3/6, 5/1 - 5/11)

JUPITER is forming a 90° SQUARE to your natal MIDHEAVEN. The principles of expansion and opportunity are needing to be included in your individual life direction. This may bring recognition or promotion. It is a good time to advance your aims in the outer world, while at the same time things may look positive in your private personal life. The only difficulty may be that you could be feeling overwhelmed and need to set limits. Sometimes this comes at a time when there is more than one possibility and it is difficult to choose. As a result, you may try to hold on to all or spread yourself too thin. This is a time to be confident yet not arrogant. Don't let the natural optimism of this time blind you to necessary limits or the future implications of your decisions. You may need to re-evaluate some of the goals you have been pursuing (especially professionally).

[Sequence lasts from SEP 14 until MAY 15.]

Affirmation: I confidently move ahead, yet remain aware of the long-term perspective.

Visualization: Visualize two doors, leading out in different directions through a wall. Be aware that each could lead to a reward for you, but that you can only take one. Experience what it is like to have to make this choice, and then choose one and go through. What do you find there?

Seed Thought: "I see the goal. I reach that goal and see another."

(3/30 - 4/19, 10/26 - 11/15)

During this period URANUS is forming a 120° TRINE to your natal MOON. This is a time in which you should look for ways to assimilate new experiences. You are likely to be called upon to adjust to changes in your life, though this is not likely to be stressful. These changes may be external or internal, meaning you could feel restless or a desire for stimulation. The playful inner Child, your instinctive knowing, and spontaneity can re-awaken now. New feelings may present themselves; are you receptive? Even physical changes may occur at this time – for women sometimes pregnancy or childbirth. Often this symbolism represents a change of residence or within it. This is the time to experiment.

[Sequence lasts from MAR 15 until FEB 16.]

(4/20 - 5/10, 9/25 - 10/15)

During this period URANUS is forming a 120° TRINE to your natal NEPTUNE. This is a difficult period to describe. It may bring no noticeable changes to some people, while for others it can represent an opportunity for spiritual development. Much would depend first of all on how important or meaningful transpersonal growth is to you. By that is meant the seeking of some goals which are beyond personal satisfaction. There is a natural rhythm at work here and it comes mainly through the new ideas and sudden unexpected situations in your life. It is hard to know what to expect. If you are on a spiritual path, this is an optimal time to attune yourself to the global transformations taking place, rather than focusing only on your individual advancement. You may experience an awakening of a psychic sensitivity or your dreams may provide guidance. Your compassion or your ability to accept WHAT IS can be stimulated now.

[Sequence lasts from APR 15 until MAR 16.]

Affirmation: I strive toward cooperation. Let the Master of my life Ñ the soul and the One I seek to serve Ñ pour Light through me to others.

JUPITER is CROSSING your natal ASCENDANT. This represents a beginning or birth in your life of a new vision or expectation. A good time for confident self-expression and risk-taking, your presence can now be magnified within your environment. This may refer to certain relationships, or to opportunities expanding your influence. Try to be aware of the seed of new possibilities which presents itself now. Trust in the Universe, in the rightness of Life, in yourself. Your confidence may be justified, but rose-colored glasses need to be removed from time to time for a reality check. You are encouraged to deal with others with trust, while still being aware of the need for discrimination and boundaries during this time of potential openness and generosity.

[Sequence lasts from NOV 14 until JUL 15.]

.U. ♃ □ ☿
(8/29 - 9/8)

JUPITER is forming a 90° SQUARE to your natal MERCURY. Your mind is ready to grow now. By expanding what you know, as well as the range of contacts you have through communication, you are gaining a broader perspective which can give greater meaning to what you think. You may be thinking about your future now, considering possibilities. As a result, you may have to push beyond outdated ideas of which you had been sure, or your familiar circle of contacts, if you are to continue to nurture the potential of this cycle. You may not be very accurate or precise now, because this is really a time when expansion and assimilation matter more than clarity or definition. Problems may arise if you don't know when to set limits on your mental activity or your speech. Try to consider the broader perspective, rather than the details. Be careful of the tendency to promise too much or to exaggerate.

JUPITER is CROSSING your natal SATURN. This represents an important time in which the desire for expansion and freedom can infuse your need for structure, security and limits. You may be facing decisions which ask you to decide upon the balance in your life between playing it safe and risking growth. An opportunity to express your potentials may be evoking fear. You can now expand the boundaries within which your life has been contained. You may feel more identified with the urge to expand or with the desire to preserve the status quo. Some people respond at this time by focusing upon material needs and solidifying their social or professional status. Others feel a need to break free of responsibilities and restrictions.

(10/31 - 11/10)

JUPITER is forming a 90° SQUARE your natal NEPTUNE. This can be a time for expressing your ideals, as well as for realizing your participation in a larger whole. It is possible that growth or expansion now can lead you into a transitional period in which you lack clarity. For some this may take the form of a spiritual or peak experience. It is also easy to be unrealistic now. A good time for using your imagination productively. The part of you which seeks an experience of escape or transcendence of everyday life needs expansion; you may soar, but remember to keep your feet on the ground. It is easy at a time like this to be misled by your idealism, to believe what you want to believe without checking the facts or listening to others.

[Sequence lasts from OCT 15 until JUL 16.]

Affirmation: I see how it can be.

Visualization: *Imagine being able to leave your body and to go to the Place where the Plan is kept which shows the design for life on Earth. During this period JUPITER is forming a 60° SEXTILE to your natal URANUS. The principles of expansion and vision can be expressed through your urge for independence and innovation. This combination suggests a time in which you are free to make breakthroughs which offer you greater freedom. Change should come easily now as circumstances seem to offer you what you need and you can have insights into the kinds of changes or new areas for exploration which will best suit your growth. If you have been considering experimenting or moving out beyond your present safe limits, there will not be a better (more supportive) time for you to try. You may still need to take the initiative, rather than sitting back and waiting. Trust your intuition, and be open to sudden understandings which can free you from the limits of your old perspective. If possible, study subjects like astrology, metaphysics, or even computers or radio/television communications. An excellent time for travel.

During this period SATURN will be CONJUNCT (0°) your natal MERCURY. This is a time in which your thinking, perceptions, and communications are of importance. You must work hard to give some kind of tangible structure or form to your thoughts. To be aligned with the meaning of this time, you would do best to be focusing or concentrating upon a limited field of mental activity. It is a good time for study or intensive writing or communicating, though you may find it demanding. You may find yourself feeling blocked or resisted in your attempts to get your ideas across. This is not something to become angry or defeated about, only the Universe's way of asking you to work harder. Patience and persistence are called for.

(11/25 - 12/5)

During this period SATURN is forming a 120° TRINE to your natal JUPITER. The principles of limitation and definition can productively combine with your vision and desire for expansion. At this time you can accept certain limitations upon your desire to expand in order to realize a tangible expression of something important to you. You are asked to balance between risk-taking and consolidation, and it is likely that if you are not easily patient or disciplined that you will feel restricted or restless. You might now see how you must give up some of your future possibilities if you are to actualize one of them. This is an opportunity to do something tangible with your ideals or goals if you have patience and discipline.

[This occurs only one time during this cycle.]

Affirmation: I accept limits which can help me realize my potential.

Visualization: Visualize a vast expanse of beautiful prairie, flowing as far you can see. . . Then imagine that you can see this land being divided into farm-sized sections by fences. . . Be aware of your reactions to having the fences placed there. . . Now watch your reactions as you realize that the addition of these fences allows you to live on your own section of this land with a view of it all.

.b. - .b.

Seed Thought: "Temperance"

♄ △ ♃	Cycle History:

Emergence (45°):	Sep 09

Test; crisis (90°):	Dec 12 - Sep 13

JANUARY – DECEMBER 2015

Here in the Appendix you will find the numbers which make up your colors and summaries.

For each month of your calendar, the favorable/challenging ratings, as well as the busy/quiet numbers, are shown for every day and each planet/angle. With these, you can gain a greater insight into the details that make up your Cosmic Window™ and your year.

Note that part of the formula which determines your ease and stress values is based upon an analysis of your birth chart. In doing this, I have taken into consideration the "condition" of your natal planets and angles. This means, for example, if you have a Saturn-Sun square in your birth chart, that your Sun is considered to have more difficulty with Saturn activity, and so when Saturn stresses your Sun, it receives a higher stress rating than would someone whose Sun was not in aspect to Saturn at birth.

In addition, if you had Saturn in a trine or sextile to the Sun at birth you would receive a lower than normal negative rating when Saturn stresses your Sun, because the trine or sextile is taken to mean that you are more attuned to or comfortable with Saturn-Sun aspects.

Also in calculating your calendar, any aspect that occurs before 6 AM is attributed to the previous day in making our color evaluations, assuming its "influence" is more relevant the prior day than it would be after the exact aspect has already occurred during the early morning.

These numbers are provided for those of you who enjoy such things, and this data is in no way needed for you to get the greatest benefit from your Cosmic Window™. Numbers for the left brain; colors for the right brain.

Your feedback and suggestions are most welcome.

The Astrological Cycle

by PHILIP LEVINE

It's easy to imagine that astrology arose as an answer to our very human instinct to seek a reliable and predictable order somewhere in our world as a relief from the constant onslaught of change we face every day. In earliest times this order would show in the regularity of the seasons, the alternation of day and night, and observed repetition of changing heavenly bodies, like the waxing and waning of the moon.

We are the same today, even if most of us rarely consider astrology as such a source of dependable rhythm and order. We all have our rituals - the morning coffee, the weekly appointment, the favorite television show - that we rely on without necessarily considering what we're doing and how we rely on that predictability.

If we could stop thinking of it as "astrology," with all its associated prejudices, foolish media portrayals and intellectual skepticism (or emotional total belief), and begin to consider the heavenly movements we take for granted (the Sun will come up every day, the planet Venus will be exactly where we expect it to be) as a great clock that never runs down (but it is), we might find the order we need.

The cycle of repetition - whether of a planet reliably returning to its starting point with exactly the same length of time each and every time, or the New Moon alternating with the Full Moon - is most useful when we understand not only its duration, but its structure. This article analyzes one way to deconstruct the cycle of motion through space that we witness in the changing faces of the moon. In doing so, we can clarify the different stages or phases of any cycle, including our own life cycle, which can give us a greater sense of order. This can greatly help us to live life with a reassuring feeling of participation in an orderly and therefore more secure process.

The Fourfold Structure of the Cycle

We will describe here the skeletal structure of a cycle. In doing so we will rely primarily on the Sun-Moon lunar cycle which recurs every 28-29 days as an example, and we will draw parallels to the human life cycle with its developmental stages. Once we have done so, the organization portrayed here can be applied to any cycle of heavenly motion, as we do in the Cosmic Window™ with its Cycle Histories.

The first thing that becomes apparent when we examine the most common cycles that envelop our daily lives is that they seem fourfold, to have a natural four-stage structure. If we look at the annual cycle of the seasons, in the temperate zones, we find four seasons, not six or three (except in Maine, where we have a fifth called "mud season"). Because our yearly seasons are the result of the opposing forces of north and south, or daylight and darkness (or any other way you want to look at it), there occur four key turning points over time. We shall see this pattern repeated in all cycles.

Starting arbitrarily with the winter solstice, celebrated for millenia in the northern hemisphere as the rebirth of the light or the divine in the heart of darkness, we find the Sun at its maximum southern position, and thus in the north, the time of least daylight and warmth. Darkness and cold predominate. This is the first critical point of the annual cycle.

At its opposite point in the year, in June, there will occur an opposing moment, when light and warmth rule, and the longest day of the year called the summer solstice. So we can see from this example that all cycles are founded upon the extreme opposition of two "polar" moments. In our daily lives, these two moments are called "midnight" and "noon" or "mid-day."

So in one way, all cycles are bipolar. The yin and yang of dark and light, cold and warmth, wax and wane repeatedly back and forth, with one dominating one half of the cycle, and the other ruling the other half. But because they are in motion, i.e., waxing and waning, each growing as the other shrinks, we find two other crucial moments appearing as well, exactly halfway between these ruling opposites. In the spring, the vernal or spring equinox occurs. And 6 months later, the autumnal equinox arrives. These opposing moments have one similarity: at these times the opposing forces of day-night, dark-light, cold-warm, and north-south (latitude of the Sun) are momentarily equal.

In our daily lives, we recognize these same two cyclic moments as "sunrise" and "sunset." In both cases - whether daily or yearly - these recognizable events are significant not only because they represent a momentary balancing of the opposing forces that make up the cycle, but also because at these moments there is an important shift from the domination of one (the one now waning) to the increasing eminence of the other (the one now waxing).

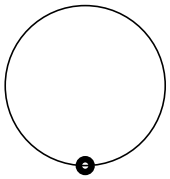
So these four points, mysteriously four like the four cardinal points by which we orient ourselves - north, east, south and west - provide us with the most basic beginnings of a recognizable structure with which we can begin to orient ourselves in the midst of any moving cyclic process. We know what season it is and what's necessary or appropriate at that time. We know what time of day it is and by that knowledge can prepare for what's next.

The same reasoning applies as we examine the astrological cycle (which both the annual and daily cycles also are). There is a beginning, a middle and an end. There are four key moments, which we recognize by the names of Conjunction, Square, Opposition, and Square. It is unfortunate that the same name is used to identify both the second and fourth critical events, because they are quite different. We refer to them here as First Quarter Square and Last Quarter Square.

The Phases of the Cycle

As we describe the following phases, always consider them specifically in the context of the main themes of the particular cycles you are trying to understand. With this somewhat lengthy but necessary background, let's briefly look at the main points in the course of a cycle, the same ones listed in the Cycle Histories.

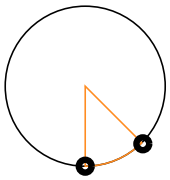
Conjunction – Origin; birth (0°)*:



Empty and Full
Pure Potential

At this moment two astrological bodies occupy the same place in space. They are conjoined, which means fused, merged, or one. Therefore there is no distinction between them. Each is filled with the other. It is a moment of complete potential for what will follow. Depending upon the individual characters of the participating bodies, the mix may be pleasant, excruciating, curious or just right.

Semisquare – Emergence (45°):

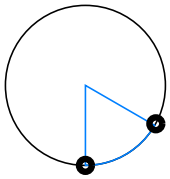


The separation has begun, and the new potential born from the mixing of the two bodies takes its first steps to establish itself on its own. It is far too soon for complete independence, but emergence has begun. In order to make this abstract map of the cyclic process and its structure more practical, we will now compare each stage with the human life cycle, imagining it in some archetypal way to last 75 - 80 years. The ages given are just rough approximations. So the conjunction would represent the conception or creation of the child, all potential and hidden in the womb.

The Semisquare would then occur 1/8 into the cycle and so would compare with the age of about 9 - 10 years old. This youthful and still dependent movement toward the first stages of independence from the original maternal and family container exemplifies what the "Emergence" stage of any cycle represents: asserting freedom, yet still not fully ready to be on its own.

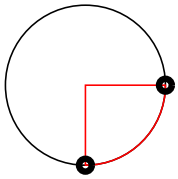
* degrees indicate the distance between them measured from the starting point

Sextile - Organizing (60°):



After the hard angle (multiples of 45° being considered "hard") comes the relative ease of the Sextile. Sextiles are blue in the Cosmic Window™. During the Sextile phase of any cycle the opportunity arises to organize the growing potential born with the cycle, to put things in their place and to "make hay," a phrase from the 16th century probably meaning the time of year and the weather are right for gathering the hay. During our life cycle, this point would occur around 12 - 13 years old, or the beginning of adolescence. Here we witness the somewhat chaotic and awkward beginnings of organizing for and toward independent adulthood.

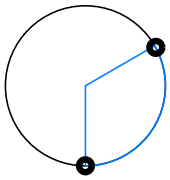
Square - Test; crisis (90°):



The dreaded Square, in our words the First Quarter Square. What gives this angle such a difficult reputation can be seen by its position in the whole cycle. The new potential that emerged at the Semisquare, began organizing at the Sextile, is now ready to break free and away from its origins, traditions, and the safety of its home. It is obviously not easy in most cases to take that step. This is the vernal equinox, the moment of daybreak, one quarter into the cycle, the critical moment when the ruling force that originated the process is overthrown by the rising power of its opposite. So in the development of any cycle, this crucial moment will serve as a foundation for what follows. If the new potential is unable to move forward, too attached to its past or too weak to stand on its own, the stages to follow will be handicapped.

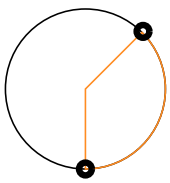
In our human life cycle, this is the critical stage around age 18 - 21 when we consider the young person legally responsible for themselves and capable of survival without the shelter and care of those who gave them birth and care.

Trine - Opportunity (120°):



Now the process moves into its second major stage in which the potential of the cycle - if it has successfully been chosen and acted upon - can grow more or less unhindered by dependency. After the struggle to break free from the past, including habit and tradition, the Trine offers a potentially flowing moment when doors open, and enthusiasm fosters growth in the new life. For humans, this time at around age 23 - 26 can bring increasing confidence and professional advancement after years of training, if the break in the previous phase has been successfully navigated.

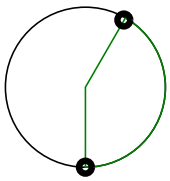
Sesquisquare - Moving Out (135°):



Another "hard" angle of 45°, long neglected in astrology, the Sesquisquare represents another moment of tension between the source or origin, tradition or habit, and the growing movement toward fulfilment of what was originally potential. Another hurdle, not necessarily major, must be overcome; another growth spurt lived through. For the human, at age 27 -

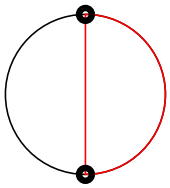
30, this is the time of the well-known "Saturn return," when the momentum of the 20's (if there has been some) is faced with a time of self-appraisal, necessary maturation, and real questions about who one is and why one is living the life being lived. The degree of ease or difficulty at this stage is probably directly tied to the success or failure that accompanied the passage through the initiation of the First Quarter Square. If it was wounding, this could represent a crucial time for course correction or healing.

Inconjunct (or Quincunx) - Adjustment (150°):



Considered a minor annoyance or a stimulant to awareness, like a pebble in the shoe or a toothache, by most astrologers, the Inconjunct (the first one) coming just before the crucial Opposition represents the opportunity or necessity to improve or adjust the results of the whole first half of the cycle before confronting the inevitable reversals and realizations about to arise. This is the time around age 30 - 35.

Opposition - Climax; reversal (180°):



Like the summer solstice and the moment of noon, this is our first experience of the actual death of one of the two components of any cycle. The first one was occurring at birth, and thus without awareness. In addition, this "death" is of the element that was in complete control of the cycle's origin. For example, at the summer solstice, the north-light-warm pole is riding high, and the south-dark-cold pole is only a memory. Or at noon, where can we find any remembrance of midnight? But in all these cases, it is exactly at this moment that the almost hidden opposite begins to restore itself and to slowly, invisibly, to reassert itself. We may celebrate the birth of the light at the winter solstice, but how do we respond to this opposing birth of the dark in the early months of summer or at noon?

So while the previously mentioned "death" may first be imagined to refer to the waning and now lost element that dominated the birth, in fact this time is a wounding of the force now almost totally dominant, a wounding which will prove fatal as the dominating or controlling factor begins its waning descent from power. Thus this is a magical and mysterious initiation, a total shift even if only in its beginnings, and a time calling for all our faculties in any astrological cycle.

We can expect at the Opposition to be confronted with the pieces of the cycle we have avoided or suppressed. The results of our actions and choices, particularly those which occurred at the First Quarter Square, will now come due or reward us, depending on whether those choices were aligned with the growing potential of the cycle's purpose or were a surrender or failure to make the shift called for at that time.

This is the challenging "midlife" phase of life - roughly ages 35 - 45. The ongoing process of maturation and development necessitated growth of a personality and an ego that could fend for itself in the world and learn skills with which one could fulfill one's purpose and potential. This means seeking success, reward, fame, or happiness for most of us. Then at midlife, these goals are no longer what it's all about. The drive outward and upward so characteristic of the first half of life and of any cycle (increasing warmth and daylight, for example) now face a reversal, and we don't take it well usually. Does this mean just a depressing defeat, or is it possible there is another purpose, still aligned with the cycle's purpose as a whole?

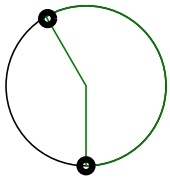
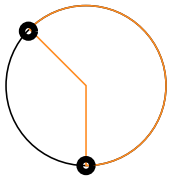
Inconjunct (Quincunx) - Refinement (210°):



Another stage of stimulation toward awareness, but this time not in preparation for the harrowing challenge of the Opposition. Instead this is what follows the Opposition and refers to a time of gleaning insights and necessary realizations as the result of the confrontation with reversal and the climax of all that the first half of the cycle stood for. We must adjust to the realizations that occurred at the opposition if we are to realize the best from the remaining half of the cycle.

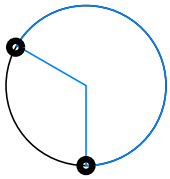
The time following midlife - mid 40's - can represent the emergence from depression, the facing of one's limits and mortality, and trying to find a sense of purpose in light of what has been seen.

Sesquisquare - Reorientation (225°):



The process of finding new bearings after the Opposition continues. What will the second half of the cycle be about? What is it driving toward? What is the appropriate attitude? Now would be the time of the cycle for expressing one's ideas or works to others. The tension here may be the result of feedback for one's efforts. This would reflect the life around the late 40's to about 50.

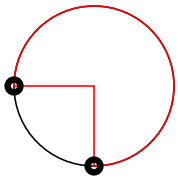
Trine - Opportunity (240°):



This Trine represents a new flow of energy and release of potential in the second half of the cycle, perhaps being the creative outpouring of the learnings or realizations from the whole first half of the cycle.

The second Trine in life symbolically comes around the late 40's and can represent another sense of opening and movement depending upon how midlife was. Did we face the realizations, as sobering and even depressing as they may be, that life is limited and we may never fulfill all the potentials (or in some cases even any) we imagined and which stimulated us during the first half of life? If we have "refined" and "reoriented" then this can symbolize the next easy movement forward into a productive period of later life.

Last Quarter Square - Test; crisis (270°):



Another critical stage, the fourth after Conjunction, First Quarter Square, and Opposition, in the cycle. The potential that was born at the beginning, tested and chosen or not at the First Quarter Square, faced, realized, or given up at the Opposition, now leads us to another threshold. This shows us why it is so necessary to distinguish between the First and Last Squares. The First one is recognized as a challenge which must be faced with courage as the purpose of the cycle must be boldly acted upon to establish a foundation upon which the cycle will proceed.

But this is a different time, a fact only made obvious if we look at it in the context of an entire cycle. Before the goal of the cycle was to establish itself as free from its early nurturing matrix and the initial impulse of the Conjunction. It was driving toward the Opposition, being carried by the growing power of the newly arising factor that was (re)born at the start of the cycle. But that element has peaked at the Opposition. Its time has come and gone. To try to carry on the cycle's activity as if it still rules is to pretend.

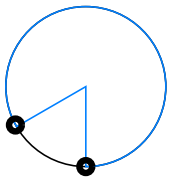
We didn't know where the cycle was going during its early stages, and now we don't know where it's headed again. But it certainly is not headed to its earlier goal. That goal was symbolized by the Opposition, a moment of peak separation from origins, standing alone as a singular force. Now it's headed toward the goal of the Conjunction, which is not separation but convergence and fusion again – a mysterious symbol for the end of the cycle and the end of life.

This is the moment of the autumnal equinox or of sunset, a somber-feeling darkening which can be glorified by brilliant foliage or a blazing sunset. The day is ending, going inward. In any cycle, this is therefore a time calling for surrender, not bold and courageous action (though surrender can be very courageous). This is a time of letting go, when the old dreams no longer fuel us, and if we are brave enough to face emptiness and uncertainty, we move on (or sit still) in the unknown.

Jung said, "At the stroke of noon the descent (of the sun) begins. And the descent means the reversal of all the ideals and values that were cherished in the morning…It is as though it should draw in its rays, instead of emitting them. Light and warmth decline and are at last extinguished…we cannot live the afternoon of life according to the programme of life's morning—for what was great in the morning will be little at evening, and what in the morning was true will at evening have become a lie…Whoever carries over into the afternoon the law of the morning. …must pay for so doing with damage to his soul."

The Last Quarter Square represents a moment - another crisis - when the force that had dominated the entire middle of the cycle now is overcome by the rising opposing element of south-dark-cold again. In life this comes around the late 50's to early 60's. A life based upon increased earning and productivity becomes less appropriate, but what will we replace it with? What is the purpose now? Is there a need to surrender to something, to move more inward or deeper within?

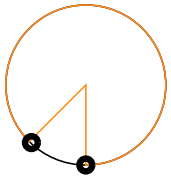
Sextile - Productivity (300°):



What kind of productivity could we expect at this late stage of any cycle? Probably the fruits of the entire cycle are ready to be harvested and possibly shared. This easy time shows the cycle favors such an approach now. The elements of the cycle are in a late stage of their relationship and probably ready to manifest a perspective that only comes near the close of any cycle. This is early evening and early autumn. We know what's coming but there's still time to produce something meaningful.

Now we reach the time of life which has been called "retirement." The life lived now has reached its limits in the view of society of being a productive participant. What can be realized or shared at this time? Is it all about emptying and disengagement, or is there something to be found on the inside? The cycle since the Opposition has been moving inward, back to its Source, and this is the most inward stage of all.

Semisquare - Release; let go (315°):



This final phase of the cycle brings the entire cycle to the threshold of its dissolving and release. The two elements that were merged at birth and which separated over time in order to fulfill potential are now almost done and ready to re-join. This is the darkening (not necessarily negative) time just before winter or midnight. What does it call for? Letting go perhaps, and entering into a quiet place of recognition that the time is almost up.

Did the ego continue to pursue its individual goals long after midlife, or was there some kind of shift since that time that brought greater emphasis to society, collective goals and the well-being of others? This is what follows retirement time. Western society has no great interest in the last half of any cycle, and so we are left on our own to find a meaningful way to live the potential richness of a more inward time.

The cycle reaches its end and begins anew. What that may mean to the individual soul we do not know. But it is a reassuring model for existence, that life does somehow go on even after its individual carriers are done. Whether we take this to mean that our children, students and others we may have influenced carry on, or that there is a "soul" that lives on after death, the point is that in the model of the cycle, cycles do repeat and repeat and repeat. The seasons continue on and light is always reborn at the solstice, though no two seasons are exactly alike. Each spring and each autumn are their own kind of season.

The concept of the cycle – so completely woven into every aspect of our lives and yet hardly recognized – can be felt internally in the in-and-out beating of your heart and the rhythm of the breath. Once perceived, it will be seen everywhere. But if you have 20 drummers each faithfully beating their own particular rhythm the result will sound anything but orderly and rhythmic. Only by focussing on one drummer at a time will their individual beat be heard.

To Dane Rudhyar goes the credit for the insight that the cycle is the heart of astrology and the key to understanding planetary motions and meanings. His The Lunation Cycle, The Pulse of Life, and Astrological Aspects (written with Leyla Rael), are some of his writings on the cycle (Aurora Press).

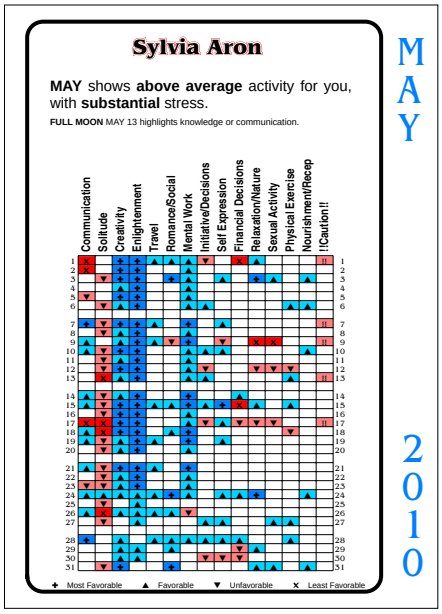
HOW TO USE YOUR

COSMIC WINDOW

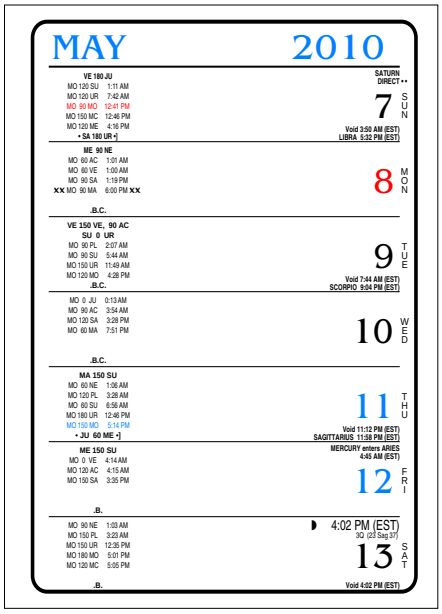
PERSONAL APPOINTMENT CALENDAR

Your appointment calendar consists of three parts:

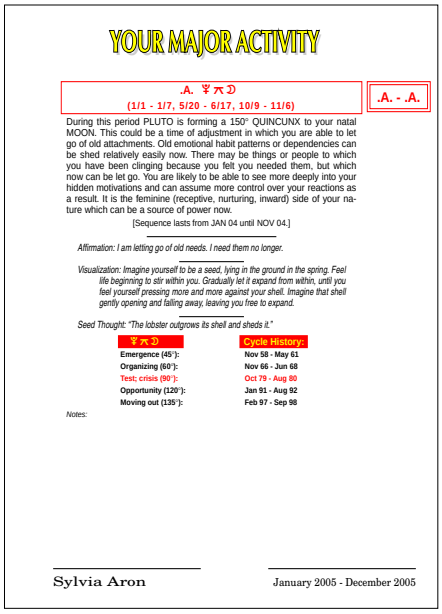
- the MONTHLY SUMMARY PAGES, providing information on your stress and activity levels, your key New or Full Moons, and your most and least favorable days,
- the DAILY ACTIVITY PAGES which show your daily activity for each week, and
- the MAJOR ACTIVITY PAGES, including interpretations and dates for all the major cycles occurring during the 12-month period covered.



Monthly Summary Page



Daily Activity Page



Major Activity Page

Monthly Summary Page

Your Stress and Activity levels.*

What (if anything) the New or Full Moon means for you personally.

These days are not "good" or "bad". The categories are each explained later in this introduction.

* Includes numerical ratings: 0 (lowest) to 10 (highest).

The first page each month offers a monthly overview. You may want to note:

- Activity level: Based upon the average amount of activity over this twelve-month period, each month is rated from "very high" to "extremely low". This can be helpful in planning, pacing and not over-extending yourself, etc.
- Stress level: Based upon the amount of stressful planetary activity each month, rated from "critical" to "relatively little".

  Please note that stress is not necessarily bad or undesirable. High stress months may be demanding, tense or even uncomfortable, but the stress may be indicative of a dynamic tension which motivates you to accomplish things that otherwise would remain undone. Only you can judge whether stress-full months are difficult for you. Many thrive on them. Others may feel bored or lack stimulation during low-stress months.

One of the most helpful and innovative features of the COSMIC WINDOW™ is its listing of your "most favorable" and "least favorable" days each month for a variety of specific categories which are explained in more detail on the following pages. Their meanings are usually obvious, but you still might find it helpful to read about them. These will be particularly helpful in planning, although these suggestions should not be substituted for your own free choices. In particular, "least favorable" days may mean that you are simply inclined to do something other than what the category calls for.

In the above example, May 1st and 2nd would be the least favorable days for communication for the month, with the 5th a little better but still not favorable. May 7th and 28th would be the best for the month, with several other days also favored, but not as much.

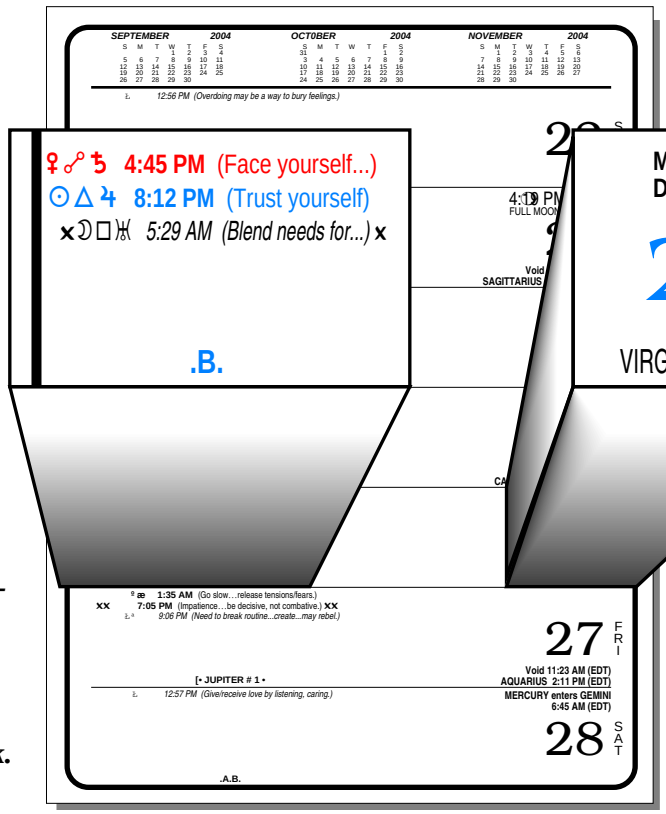
Your short term daily activity (if any) is shown each day with the symbols, their times, and interpretations. Bold symbols & plain type [in chronological order first] are the most significant each day when they occur [allow 4-12 hours lead time]. Of lesser impact are those formed by the moon -- [1-4 hours].

The approximate times for all your daily activity are given in your local time zone (ST/DST).

The letters (.B.) seen on the bottom of each day's activity refer to your Major Activity in effect that day. You will find their interpretations in the section in the back of your book.



"MERCURY DIRECT" and the moon signs are explained on the next page.

This indicates the moon enters the sign Virgo.

Daily activity which stimulates or "triggers" longer-term Major Activity for a day or part of a day can easily be seen by the X X marks which surround them.

This page shows you your own personal daily astrological activity ("aspects") based on your moment of birth. By looking at the calendar you can immediately see which days are the most active astrologically. Your personal minor activity is shown on the day it occurs, while your major activity may last up to a month or more. These will prove to be the most significant for you and are shown at the bottom of each day they are in effect, using an open-bracket [•♄☌☉• to show its approximate start and a close-bracket •♄☌☉•] to show the date when it ends.

In between the opening and closing of major activity, a letter code (.B.) is used to indicate that a particular aspect remains in effect on any given day. The same letters are also keyed to the interpretations found in the back pages of your book. All short daily aspects which "trigger" or stimulate MAJOR activity currently in effect are indicated by X. In the above example, ☽□⚷ is indicated as having a "triggering" effect, because the major aspect in effect that day ".B." is a stressful one involving the same planetary placement in your birth chart. Watch these triggers carefully.

The symbols for the planets and sensitive points (angles) are shown for the curious who want to learn a bit more about astrology. (If you're not curious, you can stop reading this page here.) Remember, you don't need to know anything about astrology or its symbols to receive full benefit from your COSMIC WINDOW™.

You will find keywords with which to build your own interpretations on the back of an early page of your book. Using the above example, ♀☍♄ would suggest "intimacy, love, self-worth, or beauty" (♀)combine with possible "tension" (☍) with your "discipline, solitude, or focus" (♄). This might correspond to a day in which you feel neglected by someone usually close to you, or in which you choose to forego pleasure or comfort because of work or responsibilities. You may feel low esteem or lonely. But you might just as easily find that you are able to accomplish a lot on your own, to feel a sense of self-worth within your solitude. These keyword formulas are suggestive and should not be taken too rigidly. Remember to be aware of the keywords in parentheses, indicating possible detrimental meanings, especially when one of the tension-producing aspects is indicated.

DIRECT AND RETROGRADE MOTION

The occasional occurrence of the terms DIRECT or RETROGRADE refers to a phenomenon caused by the motions of the Earth and the planets in which a planet appears to stop moving in the sky for several days and then to reverse its direction. Retrograde means moving backward through the zodiac, while Direct refers to a forward movement. During the few days when a planet appears to be stopped, the energies symbolized by that planet are often observed to be intensified in our lives or our environment. These times of stopped motion are noted in the calendar and the effects may last for several days.

MOON SIGNS

Your COSMIC WINDOW also shows the sign through which the Moon is passing each day. These are noted under the date of the appropriate day, with the time for the Moon's entry into that sign. To help you use this information, the following keywords indicate the quality of energy represented by each sign. You should especially note when the Moon is passing through one of your key signs, which are listed under your name on the front page.

VOID

From the time when the moon makes its final major aspect in a given sign until it enters the following sign the moon is said to be "Void of Course". Thus the time mentioned under the date of the appropriate day marked "Void" tells when the final major aspect occurs. From that time until entry into the next sign, many believe it unwise to begin projects or make decisions.

Your Major Activity Pages

The final section of your Personal Appointment Calendar interprets your major astrological activity for the twelve months covered.* The letter codes (.A., .B., etc.) correspond to those shown on the days when the particular major cycles are in effect. You will also find in this section the dates when these cycles are active for you and the duration of this present sequence for each cycle (sometimes an occurrence covers a period of several months because of retrograde motion – see above).

* Our Yearly Cycles Workbook™ provides a more in-depth look at these (and other) major cycles in your life, as well as offering practical tools for working with them.

MOST FAVORABLE / LEAST FAVORABLE DAYS

"Least favorable" does not mean "bad". For example, a "least favorable" day for Relaxation/ Nature may mean that you are likely to be highly motivated or to desire an outlet for your creativity. It is recommended that you only draw conclusions about a given day after considering all the possible categories in which it is listed.

The categories:

❑ COMMUNICATION: Including writing, speaking, negotiating, teaching, selling, phoning. "Least favorable" days may be times when you are confused, have more difficulty getting your ideas across, or are unable to find a receptive audience.

❑ SOLITUDE: Times to spend with yourself, giving yourself attention. These "most favorable" days are often the "least favorable" ones for socializing. A greater sense of self-reliance or self-sufficiency can be found on these days.

❑ CREATIVITY: There are generally quite a few of these each month. These favor innovation, experimentation, or artistic expression. The "least favorable" days may bring demands for dealing with routine, details, or practical matters or responsibilities.

❑ ENLIGHTENMENT: This often has more favorable days than any other category, because most days are opportunities for insight, spiritual growth, understanding, etc. Days that are favored for both solitude and enlightenment, for example, would be excellent for meditation retreats or journal writing, etc. (You can be creative in combining the information for more than one category.) There are no "least favorable" days for enlightenment.

❑ TRAVEL: This can refer to any kind of travel, from global to the grocery store. Naturally, major journeys would be most favored during periods in which there are several "most favorable" travel days.

❑ ROMANCE/SOCIALIZING: Has to do with relating harmoniously with others, whether intimately (romance) or simply socializing. These days also refer to your sense of being loved or appreciated, of feeling a sense of self-worth or value. On "least favorable" days you would probably do best to look to yourself for love or appreciation, instead of expecting it from others.

❑ MENTAL WORK: This includes writing, studying, organizing, or concentrating. "Least favorable" days may mean being scattered, daydreaming, or just feeling lazy, though some of those days, particularly ones being "most favorable" for enlightenment, may be very good for abstract thought or brainstorming with little structure.

❑ INITIATIVE/DECISIONS: These favor dynamic movement, willed action, taking risks, or starting something. Sometimes you may find these dates also under !! Caution !!, indicating the possibility of being carried away with enthusiasm or passion. "Least favorable" days may indicate confusion, insecurity, or lack of perspective.

❑ SELF-EXPRESSION: Be yourself, show others who you are. These are times to be honest, to speak out or creatively express your ideas or vision. When favored, you are likely to be clear or to find a receptive audience. "Least favorable" may refer to fear, self-doubt, introversion, or lack of response.

❑ Financial Decisions: These can be major or trivial. Your ability to evaluate clearly, to think realistically or to see the big picture is greatest on the "most favorable" days. On the other hand, you may be temporarily off base on the "least favorable" days. Don't necessarily avoid a decision on a "least favorable" day, just be more cautious or seek advice.

❑ Relaxation/Nature: Since life is cyclic, there are times for stopping, rejuvenating, appreciating the sky and nature around you. These days favor communing with nature, whether through sailing, gardening, hiking, lying in a hammock, or whatever you prefer. "Least favorable" days may be indicative of passion, impatience, ambition, anxiety, etc., making it more difficult to relax. But perhaps passion could combine with relaxation by white-water rafting, for example.

❑ Sexual Activity: This is the hardest one to rate, be cause the "least favorable" days are the ones with the greatest tension, while "most favorable" days are harmonious, and many people prefer the tension over the harmony. So watch over time to see if in fact you find the dates listed as "least favorable" to be the most satisfying ones. If so, then just reverse these ratings for sexual activity. These ratings are based upon the balance between your desire for love, peace, harmony and well-being on the one hand and for assertion and self-expression on the other.

❑ Physical Exercise: Your energy is likely to be high on these "most favorable" days. Athletic activity, physical labor, even sex may be favored then. "Least favorable" days indicate anything from an inclination toward laziness to potential danger from accidents (see !! Caution !!).

❑ Nourishment/Receptivity: Pay particular attention to this one. Culturally we are not usually taught to pay enough attention to meeting our most personal needs, to take responsibility for them ourselves, or to ask others for care, touch or nurturing. The quality of receptivity is also largely overlooked as we are taught to focus on doing rather than being. Therefore it is even more important to be aware of these "most favorable" days so we can take advantage of them to nurture ourselves (or others). If you are typically busy or active, try maintaining an attitude of receptivity these days, rather than initiating or controlling. These are some of the best days for massage, touch, or healing. "Least favorable" days may be troublesome, making it difficult for you to feel nurtured or be receptive.

❑ !! Caution !!: This category (which has no "least favorable" days) should be watched, but not blown out of proportion. It may indicate a time of likely obstacles, friction, or frustration, but it could instead refer to a day in which you are full of enthusiasm or passion with no blockages, thus potentially inclined to go too far. BE ALERT! Think about your actions. Be aware of how you are feeling. Don't necessarily let these days stop you from acting.

If you read these descriptions closely, you will be able to use those categories given here to generalize to others. For example, if you had to decide whether to hire someone, you could refer to the "most favorable" days for Financial Decisions, since these relate to "your ability to evaluate clearly, to think realistically".

There are layers and layers of useful information available to you, as you learn to combine the various pieces here, giving you a clearer perspective on your life, freeing you to make better choices as you steer your life in the direction you intend.
